DOCUMENT RESUME

ED 187 325 IR 008 413

AUTHOR Eichman, Barbara, Comp.
TITLE A Selective Bibliography of Civil Liberties Books: Annotated.
INSTITUTION American Civil Liberties Union, New York, N.Y.
PUB DATE 77
NOTE 87p.

EDRS PRICE MF01/PC04 Plus Postage.
DESCRIPTORS Annotated Bibliographies; *Civil Liberties; *Civil Rights; *Constitutional Law; *Democracy; Due Process; Equal Protection; Freedom of Speech; *Justice

ABSTRACT

This annotated bibliography of more than 300 titles of the most recent books on civil liberties was selected and reviewed by the American Civil Liberties Union. Books that are dated or contain highly technical information are excluded from this collection intended for general readership; however, there are titles directed and identified for specific audiences, e.g., students, historians, and lawyers. The first of four parts surveys civil liberties books in American history, including several on the origin and activities of the ACLU. Part II, devoted to the Bill of Rights, is subdivided into four areas: (1) general; (2) freedom of belief, expression, and association; (3) due process of law; and (4) equality before the law. Part III lists books on the constitutional aspects of civil liberties including excerpts from Supreme Court and other opinions and analyzing case law. The last section is a guide to reference works and other published bibliographies. Where possible, each entry is represented by a full bibliographic citation including the current price, and an author/title index and a directory listing of publishers and distributors are provided. (RAA)

****
* Reproductions supplied by EDRS are the best that can be made * * from the original document. *
****

ED187325

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION & WELFARE
NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF EDUCATION

THIS DOCUMENT HAS BEEN REPRODUCED EXACTLY AS RECEIVED FROM THE PERSON OR ORGANIZATION ORIGINATING IT. POINTS OF VIEW OR OPINIONS STATED DO NOT NECESSARILY REPRESENT OFFICIAL NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF EDUCATION POSITION OR POLICY

A SELECTIVE BIBLIOGRAPHY OF CIVIL LIBERTIES BOOKS: ANNOTATED

Compiled by

Barbara Eichman

"PERMISSION TO REPRODUCE THIS MATERIAL HAS BEEN GRANTED BY

Barbara Eichman

TO THE EDUCATIONAL RESOURCES INFORMATION CENTER (ERIC)."

American Civil Liberties Union
22 East 40th Street
New York, N.Y. 10016

IR000413

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction.....

Part I-Civil Liberties in American History/General Historical Studies.....

Part II-The Bill of Rights

A. General.....

B. Freedom of Belief, Expression, and Association

1) Censorship/Freedom of the Media.....
2) Assembly and Public Protest.....
3) Academic Freedom.....
4) Separation of Church and State.....
5) Labor-Business.....
6) Loyalty and Security.....
7) Military Service/The War in Southeast Asia...

C. Due Process of Law

1) Police Practices.....
2) Court Proceedings.....
3) Capital Punishment.....
4) Rights of Prisoners.....
5) Rights of Hospital Patients, the Mentally Ill, and the Mentally Retarded.....
6) Juvenile Due Process.....
7) Privacy.....

D. Equality Before the Law

1) Racial Discrimination.....
2) Sex Discrimination.....
3) Rights of Native Americans.....
4) Franchise.....
5) Immigration and Naturalization.....

Part III-Constitutional Aspects of Civil Liberties.....

Part IV-Guide to Civil Liberties Bibliographies and Other Reference Works.....

Index to Authors and Titles of Civil Liberties Books.....

Index to Publishers and Distributors.....

This selective, annotated bibliography, is an attempt to bring together some of the best and most recent books on civil liberties. It is by no means comprehensive. Indeed, the bulk of literature published in this field is voluminous, and often, the latest civil liberties developments may not yet be in book form.

Over 200 titles are covered in the bibliography on various civil liberties subjects. Books that are dated and contain highly technical information were excluded from this work. Rather, materials that are current and address themselves to the general public were included. Some of the titles are appropriate for a specific audience (for i.e. the student, historian, lawyer, etc.), and will be labeled to indicate so. However, the bibliography is designed primarily for the lay-person interested in civil liberty issues. Most of these books were reviewed by the national ACLU staff. We are also grateful to Norman Gross, Staff Director of the American Bar Association's Special Committee on Youth Education for Citizenship (YEFC), for allowing us to reproduce relevant sections of the Committee's publication Bibliography of Law-Related Curriculum Materials: Annotated. This book and other publications on law-related education are available from the YEFC.

To facilitate use, this bibliography is divided into four parts. Part I is a survey of civil liberties books in American History. Of special interest in this section are several books on the origin and activities of the American Civil Liberties Union (see pp. 5-8, nos. 1, 6, 8-10). Part II deals with the Bill of Rights, and is subdivided into four subject areas: A. General; B. Freedom of Belief, Expression, and Association; C. Due Process of Law; and D. Equality Before the Law. Part III lists books on the Constitutional aspects of civil liberties. This section differs from the books in part I in that these materials contain excerpts from landmark U.S. Supreme Court opinions and other documents, and analyze U.S. case law. The last section is a guide to reference works and other published bibliographies of materials dealing with civil liberties issues.

Materials are listed alphabetically by main entry (author or title) within each section. Books treating more than one subject area are cross-referenced within the bibliography. Where applicable and could be supplied, each entry contains the following information: author, title, edition, series name, place of publication, publisher, date of publication, number of pages, number of volumes, price (hardcover edition), Availability in paperback and price, and annotation of the contents of the material's contents.

Two indices can be found at the end of the bibliography. The first index is an alphabetical listing of all authors and titles of the civil liberties books. The second index is an alphabetical listing of the names and addresses of the publishers and distributors.

Some of the books included in this bibliography can be ordered from the ACLU national office and will be labelled with an asterisk to indicate so. However, most of these materials are NOT available from the national office. Please check your local library or neighborhood bookstore, and if necessary, contact the publisher. Further questions on the contents of this bibliography can be addressed to Barbara Eichman, librarian, at the ACLU national office.

PART I

CIVIL LIBERTIES IN AMERICAN HISTORY/GENERAL HISTORICAL STUDIES

PART I
CIVIL LIBERTIES IN AMERICAN HISTORY/GENERAL HISTORICAL STUDIES

1. American Civil Liberties Union. Annual Report. New York: American Civil Liberties Union, 1920- .

Describes the activities of the ACLU and gives an overall picture of the state of civil liberties in the United States for the particular year. Seven bound volumes, covering the years 1920-1969 are available for $50.00. Individual copies for 1970-1976 are available from the Literature Department of the national office.

2. Dorsen, Norman. Frontiers of Civil Liberties. New York: Pantheon Books, 1968. 420 pp.

Outlines major issues of civil liberties in the United States. The book is divided into four sections: general civil liberties issues; the First Amendment; Due Process; and Discrimination. Many of the chapters include briefs in litigated cases. The study ranges from Senator McCarthy and his battle with the Army to voting discrimination, from blacklisting by the television networks to the landmark Gideon v. Wainwright case (right to counsel), from civil liberty in wartime to de facto segregation.

3. Dorsen, Norman, ed. The Rights of Americans-What they Are-What they Should be. New York: Pantheon Books, 1971. 679 pp. $15.00.

An analysis of the state of individual rights in the United States, the protection of these rights, and ways in which they can be expanded or defended from further government encroachment.

4. Dorsen, Norman, Paul Bender, and Burt Neuborne. Political and Civil Rights in the United States. 4th ed. Boston: Little, Brown and Company, 1976. Vol. I. 1431 pp.

Source book of legal materials related to the fundamental rights of the individual. The fourth edition has been updated and expanded, and contains the following new chapters: Government Secrecy and the Public's Right to Know, The Rights of Special Groups, Administration of Justice, Commercial Speech, Access to the Regulation of the Media, and Constitutional Litigation Process. Volume II, which will be published later this year, will cover all aspects of discrimination and equal protection of the laws. Two different versions of the book will be published; a lawyer's edition and a law school edition. A civil liberties classic for lawyer's practicing in the field.

5. Feurlicht, Roberta Strauss. America's Reign of Terror: World War I, The Red Scares, and the Palmer Raids. New York: Random House, 1971. 119 pp. $5.99.

Recounts repressive activities in America between 1917-1925, and a discussion of the right to dissent and be different. Includes the Justice Department's persecution of groups of Russian immigrants, the influence of Woodrow Wilson's Committee of Public Information and the consequences for those who disagreed with it, the activities of Socialist leader Eugene Debs, the Espionage Act of 1917 and the Sedition Act of 1918. For the junior and high school student.

6. Habenstreit, Barbara. Eternal Vigilance: The American Civil Liberties Union in Action. New York: Julian Messner, 1971. 189 pp. $4.79.

The story of the ACLU and the types of activities in which it engages. The book describes the formation of the Union and some of the cases it has brought to court in the 1960's and early 70's. An introductory text to the workings of the ACLU for those having little or no familiarity with the organization. For the high school student.

7. Harris, Richard. Freedom Spent: Tales of Tyranny in America. Boston: Little, Brown and Company, 1974. 460 pp. $12.95.

Presents three separate stories of six Americans denied their constitutional liberties and their courtroom battle to regain their unalienable rights. The cases involve symbolic speech, arrest for sedition, and imprisonment for failure to testify before a federal grand jury.

8. Johnson, Donald. The Challenge to American Freedoms, World War I and the Rise of the American Civil Liberties Union. Lexington, KY: University of Kentucky Press, 1963. 243 pp.

Introductory work on the development of the ACLU, from its early beginnings as the National Civil Liberties Bureau in 1917 to its attempt to solve some of the important civil liberties problems arising in the First World War (specifically, the persecution of conscientious objectors, prosecutions under the Espionage Acts, the deportation of aliens, and the Post Office censorship of socialist and pacifist publications).

9. Lamson, Peggy. Roger Baldwin: Founder of the American Civil Liberties Union: A Portrait. Boston: Houghton Mifflin Co., 1976. 302 pp. $12.50.

A biography of Roger Baldwin, who, after serving a sentence for defying the draft act, founded the ACLU in 1920. Ms. Lamson's book is based primarily on tape recorded interviews with Mr. Baldwin as well as his papers at the Firestone Library of Princeton University, the Roger Baldwin Oral History at Columbia University, and interviews with associates. Although he was involved in many related causes, Mr. Baldwin agrees that his enduring cause was the ACLU, "for the very simple reason that no fight for civil liberties ever stays won." Although the author is critical of some of the things Mr. Baldwin did and did not do, she does portray a "whole man, full of vigor, principle, and contrivance, and delighted with the grand adventures of his extraordinary life."

10. Markmann, Charles Lam. The Noblest City: A History of the American Civil Liberties Union. New York: St. Martin's Press, 1965. 464 pp.

An account of every aspect (through 1965) of the ACLU's activities since its inception in 1920. The author details the Union's fight against wiretapping, illegal search and seizure, religious bigotry, censorship, immigration laws, and other infringements of civil liberties. Provides an historical survey of the objectives and activities of the ACLU.

11. Murphy, Paul A. The Meaning of Freedom of Speech: First Amendment Freedoms from Wilson to FDR. (Contributions in American History No. 15) Westport, CT: Greenwood Publishing Co., 1972. 401 pp. $14.50.

The story of freedom of expression beginning with wartime restrictions of freedom of speech in 1918 up to the Supreme Court decisions in 1931. For the constitutional historian and law student.

12. Nye, Russell B. Fettered Freedom: Civil Liberties and the Slave Controversy, 1930-1860. 2nd ed. Urbana, IL: University of Illinois Press, 1972. 353 pp. $6.50, pap. $3.45.

A study of the impact of the slavery controversy on the definition and application of the term civil liberty. Professor Nye illustrates that the abolitionist movement became a battle not only for human rights of the black person, but for the realization of the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights. For the historian.

13. Reitman, Alan, ed. The Price of Liberty: Perspectives on Civil Liberties by Members of the ACLU. New York: Norton, 1968. 248 pp.

Essays by distinguished scholars on such civil liberties issues as freedom of speech and press, police power, union democracy, the right of privacy, and academic freedom.

14. Reitman, Alan, ed. The Pulse of Freedom: American Freedoms: 1920-1970s. New York: Norton, 1975. 352 pp. $12.50, pap. $1.95.

This book traces the history of civil liberties in the United States from 1920 to the present, examining the social changes and conflicts generated by the quest for freedom. Divided into five decades, each analyzed by an outstanding scholar, the author parallels the history of the ACLU since its inception in 1920. Ideas relate to conscientious objection, the Scopes trial, McCarthyism, school desegregation and many other subjects.

15. Scheiber, Harry N. The Wilson Administration and Civil Liberties. Ithaca, NY: Cornell University Press, 1960.

A study of civil liberties during the First World War which includes chapters on security measures, censorship, the work of the Justice Department and the Red Scare. For the historian.

16. Wright, Edward Needles. Conscientious Objectors in the Civil War. New York: A.S. Barnes & Co., 1961. 274 pp. pap. $1.95.

The author states that although the term conscien-

PART II

THE BILL OF RIGHTS

A. GENERAL

B. FREEDOM OF BELIEF, EXPRESSION AND ASSOCIATION

C. DUE PROCESS OF LAW

D. EQUALITY BEFORE THE LAW

tious objector was not used during the Civil War, the concept certainly existed. Objectors to military service on conscientious of religious grounds were merely referred to as "non-resistants" and those "scrupulous against bearing arms." This work is a well-documented historical survey of the problem of objection to warfare on religious and moral grounds during the Civil War. Wright covers five major areas: the types of non-resistants, their number, their efforts against going to war, the attitude of the civil and military authorities towards objectors, and a comparison of conscientious objectors during the Civil War and World War I.

PART II. THE BILL OF RIGHTS

A. GENERAL

1. Brant, Irving. The Bill of Rights-Its Origin and Meaning. Bergenfield, NJ: Mentor Books, 1965. 560 pp. pap $1.25.

Rights embodied in the Constitution and the Bill of Rights examined in light of British common law. British and colonial history, and U.S. Supreme Court decisions are discussed. Stresses the role of the Bill of Rights as a shield against governmental abuses.

2. Cohen, William, Murray Schwartz and DeAnne Sobul. The Bill of Rights, A Source Book. (The Constitutional Rights Series.) Riverside, NJ: Benziger, 1976. 256 pp. pap. $4.96.

Sourcebook on constitutional law which explains the application of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights to the following areas: judicial review, the Fourteenth Amendment, and federalism, freedom of religion, criminal due process and equal protection of the law.

3. Douglas, William O. A Living Bill of Rights. New York: Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, 1961. 72 pp. pap. $.75.

Explanation by the former Supreme Court Justice of how the Bill of Rights insures basic individual freedoms. Cites historical and modern cases, and stresses the need for protecting these rights.

4. Fraenkel, Osmond K. The Rights We Have: A Handbook of Civil Liberties. New York: Thomas Y. Crowell Co., 1974. 246 pp. $6.95.

Details our basic rights, including rights of personal freedom, rights of equal treatment, and due process rights, as well as how to challenge infringement of rights. Appendices include the Bill of Rights, constitutional amendments added after the Civil War, and a list of Supreme Court Justices from 1925-1971.

5. Fribourg, Marjorie G. The Bill of Rights: Its Impact on the American People. New York: Avon Books, 1967. 301 pp. pap $.95.

The effect of the Bill of Rights, presented through historical background and narratives of important cases which defined these rights. For the high school student.

6. Katz, William Loren and Bernard Ganghran. The Constitutional Amendment. New York: Franklin Watts, 1974. 96 pp. $3.90.

A brief history of the Bill of Rights and subsequent amendments. Each amendment is defined and there are examples of why each amendment is needed and the historical episodes which led to each one.

7. Konvitz, Milton, ed. Bill of Rights Reader: Leading Constitutional Cases. 5th rev. ed. Ithaca, NY: Cornell University Press, 1973. 747 pp. $19.50.

Compendium of important cases involving the Bill of Rights, with explanatory essays and excerpts from trials and decisions.

8. Lawton, M. and J. Fontana. These Unalienable Rights: A Handbook of the Bill of Rights. 5th rev. ed. Washington, DC: Federal Bar Association, 1973. 116 pp.

A discussion of each area of the Bill of Rights. Includes historical background, specific problems, and exposition of case law.

9. Manoni, Mary H. Our Bill of Rights. Glenview, IL: Scott, Foresman & Co., 1970. 112 pp. pap. $1.56.

Uses legal cases to show how the Bill of Rights has been interpreted throughout American history. The drafting of the Bill of Rights is briefly described, paraphrasing each amendment. For the junior and high school student.

10. Newman, Edwin S. Civil Liberty and Civil Rights. (Legal Almanac Series.) New York: Oceana, 1970. 117 pp. $4.95.

Explains how the law operates to protect freedom of expression, due process rights, civil rights, and the separation of church and state. Appendix includes Bill of Rights.

11. Parker, Donald, Robert O'Neil and Nicholas Econopouly. Civil Liberties: Case Studies and the Law. Boston: Houghton Mifflin Co., 1974. 242 pp. pap. $3.96.

The authors present legal basis for the rights of the accused, equal opportunity under law, property rights, and freedom of religion, speech, press, and assembly. Hypothetical cases and simplified examples of the application of the law are utilized. There is a chapter on Gideon v. Wainwright (right to counsel).

12. Way, H. Frank Jr. Liberty in the Balance: Current Issues in Civil Liberties. 4th ed. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1976. 128 pp. $3.95.

Introductory work to some of the important issues in the civil liberties field. Information includes: racial justice, Freedom of the press-censorship and obscenity, freedom of expression, church and state, and criminal justice. Each section has review questions to further emphasize major considerations. For the high school student.

13. Wise, William. American Freedom and the Bill of Rights. (Finding-Out-Books for Science and Social Studies Series) New York: Parents' Magazinr Press, 1975. 64 pp. $4.59.

A simply written book for elementary school students which describes the events surrounding the drafting of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. Discusses the meaning of habeas corpus, ex post facto, and bill of attainder, and shows the practical implications of the Bill of Rights, the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Nineteenth, Twenty-Fourth, and Twenty-Sixth Amendments, and the proposed Equal Rights Amendment.

B. FREEDOM OF BELIEF, EXPRESSION, AND ASSOCIATION

I. Censorship/Freedom of the Media

1. Barron, Jerome A. Freedom of the Press for Whom? The Right of Access to Mass Media. Bloomington, IN: Indiana University Press, 1973. 368 pp. pap. $3.95.

Barron contends that the communications industry today is our greatest threat to freedom of expression. He believes that the First Amendment, which operates primarily to protect the property rights of media owners, must be given an interpretation to protect the rights of the public to have access to all views and ideas.

2. Beringhanuse, David K. The Flight from Reason: Essays on Intellectual Freedom in the Academy, the Press, and the Library. Chicago: American Library Association, 1975. 175 pp. pap. $7.54.

This volume is concerned with intellectual freedom and threats to it based on the communications process and particularly library censorship. A detailed discussion of four cases, Film Censorship in Peoria, the case of The Nation, Orwell's 1984, and The Report of the President's Commission on Obscenity and Pornography are included. The American Library Association's policy on ordering books on censorship is also presented.

3. Carter, Joseph. Freedom to Know: A Background Book. (Background Books for Young People.) New York: Parent's Magazine Press, 1974. 182 pp. $4.95.

Discusses many aspects of freedom of expression and the right to information, including limits the government tries to place on the free exchange of ideas. Includes sections on the history of freedom of information, the problems in determining what is true, the impact of propaganda, the sometimes conflicting responsibilities of news reporters, two Supreme Court decisions affecting censorship, and government censorship. For junior and high school students.

4. Cline, Victor, ed. Where do you draw the Line? An exploration into Media Violence, Pornography, and Censorship. Provo, UT: Brigham Young University Press, 1974. 365 pp. $9.95, pap. $6.95.

Does the First Amendment really mean what it says? Contributing authors examine the issues of media violence, pornography, and censorship as they are emerging in today's society.

5. De Grazia, Edward. Censorship Landmarks. New York: Bowker, 1969. 657 pp. $23.00

A collection of judicial decisions in virtually every important censorship case from 1600 to 1968.

6. Emerson, Thomas I. The System of Freedom of Expression. New York: Random House, 1970. 754 pp. pap. $4.95.

Examines the legal doctrines which formulate our system of freedom of expression. Material covers the whole range of subjects embraced by the First Amendment. For the lawyer.

7. Farber, Stephen. The Movie Rating Game. Washington, DC: Public Affairs Press, 1972. 128 pp. pap $4.50.

An ex-insider's view of how the motion picture industry rating code is administered.

8. Fixx, James F., ed. The Mass Media and Politics. (The Great Contemporary Issues Series.) New York: Arno Press, 1971. 600 pp. $35.00.

Source materials covering the role of press and television in a democracy, including such issues as equal time and regulation of the media. This reference work also includes articles from The New York Times on such subjects as Harry Truman's walks with the press, Richard Nixon's "Checkers" speech, Spiro Agnew's criticism of the media, the TV production, "The Selling of the Pentagon," and Vietnam and the press.

9. Galt, Thomas Franklin. Peter Zenger: Fighter for Freedom. New York: Thomas Y. Crowell Co., 1975. 242 pp. $4.50.

A fictionalized account of Zenger's fight for freedom of the press and his trial for seditious libel. For junior high school students.

* 10. Gora, Joel. The Rights of Reporters: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Reporter's Rights. (American Civil Liberties Union Handbook Series.) New York: Avon Books, 1974. 254 pp. pap. $1.25.

A handbook, using question and answer format, presenting information about the rights of reporters as guaranteed by the First Amendment. Material includes: protection of news sources, libel, and special problems of underground publications. Appendix includes a summary of state shield laws and Department of Justice guidelines on rights of reporters.

11. Haight, Anne Lyon. Banned Books: Trends in Censorship from Homer to Hemingway. 3rd ed. New York: Bowker, 1970. 166 pp. $10.95.

A list, by no means exhaustive, of banned books, together with brief comments on where, when, and why they offended. They include: the Bible, the Koran, the works of Confucious, Homer, Dante, Erasmus, Shakespeare, Milton, Joyce, Steinbeck. Even Walt Disney makes it into this distinguished company.

12. Haiman, Franklyn S. Freedom of Speech. (To pretect These Rights Series.)[1] Skokie, IL: National Textbook Company, 1977. 221 pp. pap. $5.75.

One of a series of 6 books published in conjunction with the American Civil Liberties Union on freedom of speech. Reviews U.S. Supreme Court opinions since the 1917 landmark Schenck v. United States case (clear and present danger formula) on interpretation of the free speech clause of the First Amendment. Can be used in the high school and college classroom as well as a source book for the lawyer.

13. Hamling, William L., ed. Obscenity: Censorship of Free Choice. San Diego, CA: Greenleaf Classics, 1971.

The prize winning essays of twenty-three college and graduate students in a national competition are gathered here in this volume. If they represent the young adult attitudes

---

1) Other books in the series are: Religious Freedom, Rights of Privacy, Due Process of Law, Racial Equality, and Woman & the Law. Books can be ordered from ACLU Literature Department. Individual copies are available to affiliates and other groups at a discount of 20%, or $4.60 each. Quantities of 20 or more books are available to affiliates at a discount of 33%, or $3.80 each. With orders of 20 or more books, the titles can be mixed.

of the nation as a whole, censorship should eventually phase out, since they opt overwhelmingly for free choice.

14. Hart, Harold, ed. Censorship: For and Against. New York: Hart Publishing Co., 1971. 255 pp. $7.95.

Twelve essays by lawyers, clergy, professors, literary and motion picture critics, a senator, and a psychoanalyst, all of whom debate the pros and cons of censorship.

15. Hoyt, Olga G. and Edwin P. Hoyt. Censorship in America. New York: Seabury Press, 1970. 160 pp. $6.50.

A study of censorship written with an anti-censorship bias. The authors discuss how censorship has been used throughout history to harass artists, and explores the question of who is to judge morals in a free society. Selected by the School Library Journal as one of the best books of 1970. For the junior and high school student.

16. McClellan, Grant S., ed. Censorship in the United States. New York: H.W. Wilson, 1967. 222 pp. $5.25.

Although there are many state and municipal laws involving censorship of printed materials, the theatre, films and other public activities, there are few such federal statutes. This compilation examines how our freedom to read and freedom of speech are currently affected by censorship activities, primarily since World War II. Such areas as: pornography, obscenity, fair trial v. free press, freedom of speech, censorship and politics, intellectual freedom, and freedom in education are set forth.

17. Marchetti, Victor and John D. Marks. The C.I.A. and the Cult of Intelligence. New York: Knopf, 1974. 398 pp. $10.00.

The authors, one of whom was a CIA officer, the other of whom worked for the State Department, expose many controversial activities of the CIA. The legality and morality of some of these activities are explored. The CIA tried to ban the book, and eventually succeeded in censoring several sections.

18. Norwick, Kenneth. Lobbying for Freedom: A Citizen's Guide to Fighting Censorship at the State Level. New York: St. Martin's Press, 1975. 158 pp. $8.95. 2)

A manual of how citizens can influence the legislative process and actively promote First Amendment freedoms. Includes recent Supreme Court decisions on obscenity and pornography.

*19. Powledge, Fred. An ACLU Guide to Cable Television. New York: American Civil Liberties Union, 1972. 46 pp. $1.00 (mimeographed).

An ACLU report explaining what cable television is and what it could be - how appropriate regulation of cable could insure diverse and virtually unlimited programming.

20. Randall, Richard. Censorship of the Movies: The Social and Political Control of a Mass Medium. Milwaukee: University of Wisconsin Press, 1970. 280 pp. $17.50 pap. $4.75.

An analysis of the nature and problems of movie censorship in today's society. Randall traces the history of official censorship, the changes in the definition of obscenity, and describes the operation of censorship boards. For the law student.

21. Sloan Commission on Cable Communications. On the Cable: The Television of Abundance. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1971. 256 pp. $7.95, pap. $2.95.

An investigation on the problems and possibilities that will arise as cable television spreads across the United States. Chapters include: An Introduction to Cable Television, Entertainment on the Cable, Politics of the Cable, and Ownership and Control of Cable Systems.

22. Thurman, David S. The Right of Access to Information from the Government. (Legal Almanac Series). New York: Oceana, 1973. 113 pp., $4.95.

Designed to help citizens take advantage of the 1967 Freedom of Information Act. It describes 38 government agencies affected by the act and provides data on how to obtain information from each agency.

2) An excerpt of this book is available in pamphlet form from the National Coalition Against Censorship, 22 East 40th Street, New York, NY 10016.

23. United States. Commission on Obscenity and Pornography. The Report of the Commission on Obscenity and Pornography. New York: Random House, 1971. 700 pp. pap. $1.65(Bantam).

In 1967 Congress created the Commission on Obscenity and Pornography to determine the causual connection, if any, between sexually explicit materials and crime, and to make recommendations about dealing with it. As a result of the seventy odd scientifically designed studies initiated by the committee, twelve of its eighteen members concluded no connection existed and urged repeal of all laws restricting access to any materials to consenting adults. The minority dissented vigorously, and both sides, and the evidence, are presented in this work. For the student and scholar of the subject.

II. Assembly and Public Protest

1. Bakal, Carl. The Right to Bear Arms. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1966. 392 pp. $6.95.

The author agrees with the Supreme Court's interpretation of the Second Amendment that the individual's right to keep and bear arms applies only to the preservation or efficiency of "a well-regulated militia." Explains how the Second Amendment has been misconstrued by the American citizenry and outlines the efforts to achieve effective gun control and the activities of gun lobbyists. Appendices include tables, statistics, firearm laws, and a bibliography.

2. Danziger, Paula. The Cat Ate My Gymsuit. New York: Dell Publishing Co., 1975. 128 pp. pap. $.95.

Marcy, an overweight adolescent, gains self-esteem from her English teacher, Ms. Finney. Ms. Finney is later fired for refusing to say the Pledge of Allegiance and for using non-traditional but effective teaching techniques. The town is in an uproar by the time the school board conducts its hearing on the firing. Many issues are raised throughout this sensitive story, relating to such law-related concepts as authority, civil disobedience, justice, and freedom of expression. For the young student.

3. Kennett, Lee and James Anderson. The Gun in America: The Origins of a National Dilemma. Westport, CT: Greenwood Press, 1975. 339 pp. pap. $3.95.

An historical and chronological study of why America's current gun problem lies in her past. The authors contend that the role of firearms is unique to U.S. history and that since colonial times, Americans have been conditioned to regard arms-bearing as a right rather than a privilege subject to government control. The authors trace the developments for gun control up to the legislation in the 1960s.

4. Starr, Isidore. Liberty Under Law/Freedom of Expression-The Feiner Case. (Our Living Bill of Rights Series.) Chicago: Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corp., 1968. 68 pp. pap. $1.25.

Sourcebook based on the Feiner case (in which the Supreme Court weighs the First Amendment right of an individual who makes an inflammatory speech against the right of the city to prevent a breach of the peace), with majority and minority opinions. Also includes sections from Socrates, Milton, Johnson, and others on freedom of expression, the power of the state, and freedom of the press. For the junior and high school student.

III. Academic Freedom

1. Bolmeier, Edward C. Teachers' Legal Rights, Restraints and Liabilities. (American School Law Series.) Cincinnati: W.H. Anderson, 1971. 149 pp.

A manual of the legal rights of teachers, presented through the analysis of leading court decisions on a number of issues pertaining to teachers. The legal rights covered include: right of tenure, leave of absence, association, teaching controversial materials, liability for pupil injuries, etc. The American Law Series also publishes a students' legal rights and responsibilities manual. (See #7)

2. Cutler, Charles L. and Howard J. Schwach, with Michael E Geltner. Juveniles and the Law. (Background Series.) Columbus, Ohio: Xerox Educational Publications, 1975. 47 pp. pap. $.50.

A series of articles, vignettes, letters, comics and historical sketches on the development and practice of juvenile law in the United States. Discusses In Re Gualt (juvenile due process) and Goss v. Lopez (student's right to an informal hearing when threatened with suspension from public school), dress codes, the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (Buckley Amendment giving parent's right to look at school records and challenge their contents), attitudes on a proposed curfew ordinance, a case study of how the law works to prevent child abuse, and hypothetical situations involving free speech issues. Also presents a situation in which a young man is arrested by mistake, and poses questions about mistakes made by the police officer and the boy. Also describes the hypothetical situation of a town temporarily without law enforcement. For students in grades 6-8.

3. Dorman, Michael. Under 21: A Young People's Guide to Legal Rights. New York: Dell Publishing Co., 1971. 186 pp. pap. $.75.

Addressing itself to the high school and college student, this work explains the legal rights of young people. These rights include: freedom of belief, expression and association, due process, drugs and parental abuse. The appendices include excerpts on freedom of the press and on due process from Academic Freedom in the Secondary Schools, published by ACLU.

4. Fischer, Louis and David Schimmel. The Civil Rights of Teachers. (Critical Issues in Education Series.) New York: Harper & Row, 1973. 220 pp. pap. $4.95.

This volume covers such rights of teachers as Freedom of Speech, appearance, loyalty oaths, political activity and membership, professional organizations, and due process. It explores various issues faced by the courts under the First and Fifth Amendments, and the development of new attitudes as society shifts toward new modes of behavior.

5. Knight, Richard S. Students' Rights: Issues in Constitutional Freedoms. (The Analysis of Public Issues Program Problems Series.) Boston: Houghton Mifflin Co., 1974. 122 pp. pap. $2.64.

Provides some basis for discussion and activities on student rights controversies. Focuses on dress codes, freedom of expression, privacy, and due process.

* 6. Levine, Alan H., and Eve Carey. The Rights of Students: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Student's Rights. Rev. ed. (American Civil Liberties Union Handbooks Series). New York: Avon, 1977.
149 pp. pap. $1.50

A handbook, using question and answer format, presenting information on the rights of public school students. Areas covered include: First Amendment rights, dress codes, due process, corporal punishment, marriage, pregnancy and parenthood, school records and grades. Includes a bibliography, a description of legal citations, and the Supreme Court's opinion in the Tinker case (dealing with students' first Amendment rights to use the public school as a form for peaceful protest against government foreign policy) and the Goss v. Lopez case (dealing with students' Fourteenth Amendment rights in that they were suspended from their schools and denied due process of law) not included in the first edition.

7. LaMorte, Michael, Harold W. Gentry and D. Parker Young. Students' Legal Rights and Responsibilities. (American School Law Series). Cincinnati: W.H. Anderson Co., 1971. 241 pp. $8.00.

Case book on student rights, covering dress and personal appearance, freedom of expression, rights of married students, organization membership, search, and due process. Includes text of major decision, lists of relevant cases, and bibliography, and litigation materials pertaining to students' First Amendment rights, their rights in disciplinary cases, and in regard to various non-disciplinary problems arising under the equal protection clause of the United States Constitution. Includes twelve model pleadings.

8. NEA. Task Force on Student Involvement. Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities. West Haven, Conn: National Education Association, 1971. 42 p. pap. $1.50.

A general code prepared by the National Education Association's Task Force on Student Involvement. Includes discussion of the following rights: to have access to education, to affect organized learning activities, to have confidentiality of information, to have freedom of association, to participate in institutional government, to have freedom of inquiry and expression, to establish standards for discipline and grievance, and to have just enforcement of standards. Order from NEA, stock # 0541-4-00.

9. Nelson, Jack. Captive Voices: The Report of the Commission of Inquiry into High School Journalism. New York: Schocken Books, 1974. 288 pp. pap. $1.45

The report of a group of educators and journalists convened to investigate the state of journalism in American high schools, the extent to which freedom of expression can be exercised within schools, and the effect of censorship on students' political behavior and active involvement as citizens. The report concentrates on censorship and First Amendment freedoms, minority participation in journalistic activities, the learning benefits of high school journalism, and the established media's interest in high school journalism. Also presents the commission's recommendations. Appendices include " A Legal Guide for High School Journalism, "Model Guidelines for Student Publications," a description of how the commission gathered data, and other relevant information.

10. Nussbaum, Michael. Student Legal Rights: What They Are and How to Protect Them. New York: Harper & Row, 1970. 161 pp. pap. $1.25

A guide to the legal rights of students in colleges and universities. Information includes; rules for student conduct, censorship, freedom of expression and assembly, due process, grades, discrimination based on race or sex, and [illegible] records. Appendix lists significant student rights cases.

11. Ratliff, Richard C. Constitutional Rights of College Students.
Metuchen, N.J.: Scarecrow Press, 1972. 260 pp. $8.50

The rights of college students, with emphasis on the years 1961-1969, are set sorth through important court decisions. The rights surveyed include: search and seizure, self-incrimination, freedom of speech and press. For the school administrator, and college student.

* 12. Reitman, Alan, Judith Follman, and Edward T. Ladd. Corporal Punishment in the Public Schools: The Use of Force in Controlling Student Behavior. New York: American Civil Liberties Union, 1972.
41 pp. $1.00 (Mimeographed).

An analysis of the resurgence of corporal punishment in schools, its effect on students, and what the law says.

13. Rickenbacker, William, ed. The Twelve Year Sentence: Radical Views of Compulsory Schooling. La Salle, IL: Open Court Publishing, 1974. 236 pp.

Essays by radical scholars and attorneys arguing for a new freedom in education in which gifted parents could teach their own child or permit "dissenters" such as the Amish to pursue their beliefs in peace.

* 14. Rubin, David. The Rights of Teachers: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Teacher's Rights. (American Civil Liberties Union handbook series).
New York: Avon, 1972. 175 pp. pap. $1.50

A handbook, using question and answer format, presenting information on the rights of teachers. Includes: freedom to teach, freedom of speech and association, freedom of religion, personal grooming, due process, and other issues.

15. Schimmel, David and Louis Fischer. The Civil Rights of Students.
New York: Harper & Row, 1975. 347 pp. pap. $4.95.

Uses the case study approach to investigate the civil rights of students, Cases involve freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of association, freedom of religion, dress codes, racial and ethnic segregation, sex discrimination and due process. Appendices include constitutional amendments most relevant to the rights of students, notes on how to use the legal system, summaries of leading constitutional cases, suggestions on how to use the book in a classroom, sample dress and grooming codes, and a bibliography.

IV. Separation of Church and State

1. Burstein, Abraham. Laws Concerning Religion in the United States. (Legal Almanac Series). 2nd ed. New York: Oceana, 1966. 91pp. $4.95.

Summarizes the current (in 1966) legal status of religion and religious bodies. Discusses general technical questions, such as the legal responsibilities of incorporated religious organizations, as well as the implications of several Supreme Court decisions affecting matters of conscience, public and parochial education, and Sunday blue laws. Includes a short bibliography and table of cases.

2. Cogdell, Gaston D. What Price Parochiaid? Silver Springs MD: Americans United for Separation of Church and State, 1970. 271pp.

An analysis of the reasons why public funds should not be used for non-public schools.

3. Douglas, William O. The Bible and the Schools. Boston: Little, Brown, 1966. 65pp.

Former Supreme Court Justice Douglas discusses the reasoning behind the Supreme Court's decision on religion in the public schools. Justice Douglas explains the framers justification for religious tolerance, and their concern that the First Amendment should protect the citizen's right to reject or embrace any faith. It was this historic right, he states, that the Supreme Court upheld when it declared prescribed prayer and Bible reading in the public schools to be unconstitutional. For the high school student.

4. Guttman, Allen. God and Government: The Uneasy Separation of Church and State. (Amherst Project Units in American History series). Menlo Park: CA, Addison-Wesley Publishing Company, 1972. 47pp. pap.

Discussion of conflicts between religion and the state, mostly centering on prayer in public schools and aid to parochial schools. The author uses cases, opinions, articles and speeches to present the arguments.

* 5. Jonakait, Randolph. The Military Chaplaincy System. New York: American Civil Liberties Union, 1973. 60pp. $1.00 (Mimeographed)

An ACLU report reviewing the military chaplaincy system and recommending its abolition in its present form.

6. Keim, Albert, ed. Compulsory Education and the Amish. New York: Harper & Row, 1975. 211pp. $9.95.

Collection of articles exploring various aspects of the conflict between the freedom of religion guarantee of the Constitution and the requirement of compulsory public education. The Supreme Court case of Wisconsin v. Yoder provides the main thrust of the book, with articles analyzing the major legal issues and the implications of the case. Appendix includes the text of the Yoder case and an extensive bibliography.

7. Konvitz, Milton R. Religious Liberty and Conscience: A Constitutional Inquiry. New York: Viking Press, 1968. 116pp. $4.50.

Raises such questions as: What is religion? Does the First Amendment protect non-religion and atheism? Does conscience, when it does not profess to be religious, have the right to the same freedom that religion can claim? This last question, bearing on conscientious objection to military service, is characteristic of the book's relevancy.

8. Morgan, Richard E. The Supreme Court and Religion. (The Supreme Court and American Life series). New York: Free Press, 1972. 216pp. pap. $3.95.

Thorough discussion of Supreme Court policy on religion's role in America, covering discussions on free exercise of religion, prayer in public places, the conflict between religion and secular law, and the role of religion in conscientious objection.

9. Oliver, Donald W. and Fred M. Newmann. Religious Freedom (Public Issues series). Columbus, Ohio: Xerox Education Publications, 1967. 48pp. pap.

Anthology of readings and cases on the conflict between religious beliefs and secular authority. Includes the Amish, Jehovah's Witnesses, atheists, and some Christian martyrs.

10. Panoch, James V. and David L. Bell. Religion Goes to School : A Practical Handbook for Teachers. New York: Harper & Row, 1968. 183pp.

Written for the classroom teacher, this book clarifies the relation between riligion and public education, and suggests methods and materials adaptable for classroom use. The primary purpose of the work is to give the teacher assistance on how to include religion and religious literature in the curriculum, and within the limits of the law.

11. Pfeffer, Leo. God, Caesar and the Constitution. New York: Harper & Row, 1975. 390pp. $15.00

Analysis of the Supreme Court's role as arbitor in the conflict between church and state in our society. Includes discussion of church and state conflicts in the following areas: the family, the military, the public schools, the private schools, and the community. Also includes predictions as to changes in future judicial positions.

12. Pfeffer, Leo. Religious Freedom. (To Protect These Rights series). Skokie, Illinois: National Textbook Company, 1977, 178pp. pap. $5.75 (3)

One of a series of 6 books published in conjunction with the American Civil Liberties Union on religious freedom. Traces the origins of religious freedom in colonial America and provides the reader with excerpts of leading Supreme Court opinions and other documents on the establishment of religion clause of the First Amendment. Can be used in the high school and college classroom as well as a source for the lawyer.

V. Labor-Business

1. Taft, Philip. Rights of Union Members and the Government. (Contributions in American History, No. 39). Westport, Conn: Greenwood Press, 1975. 348pp. $14.95.

The purpose of this work is to evaluate the effect of the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act which regulated the internal affairs of unions. Chapters cover: The Bill of Rights for union members, protection of the union member's right to vote, freedom of speech, press and assembly, collective bargaining and others. For the union member, management and labor lawyer.

VI. Loyalty and Security

1. Berman, Jerry J. and Morton H. Halperin, eds. The Abuses of the Intelligence Agencies. Washington, D.C.: Center for National Security Studies, 1975. 185pp.

A report by the Center for National Security Studies about the abuses of power committed by the U. S. intelligence agencies. Facts about the activities of the CIA, FBI, NSA, Secret Service, and Military Intelligence, and their operations beyond the law and Constitution are publicized and well-documented in this report.

2. Dorsen, Norman and Stephen Gillers, eds. None of Your Business: Government Secrecy in America.

---

(3) Other books in the series are: Freedom of Speech, Rights of Privacy, Due Process of Law, Racial Equality, and Woman & The Law. Books can be ordered from the literature department and individual copies are available to affiliates and other groups at a discount of 20%, or $4.60 each. Quantities of 20 or more books are available to affiliates at a discount of 33%, or $3.80 each. With orders of 20 or more books, the titles can be mixed.

New York: Viking Press, 1974. 362pp. $12.50; pap.(Penguin Books), $2.95.

Examines secrecy in American government especially in the Executive Branch. Describes the government's classification system of documents, problem of disclosure, and recommends proposals for reform. Includes essays on the Freedom of Information Act, covert intelligence gathering, legislative and local government secrecy, pressures on the press, and protection of whistleblowers.

3. Halperin, Morton, and others. The Lawless State: The Crimes of the U.S. Intelligence Agencies. New York: Penguin Books, 1976. 328 pp. pap. $2.95.

A documented report, by the Center for National Security Studies, on the abuses of the U.S. intelligence agencies. Describes the CIA's campaign against Salvador Allende, and other covert activities abroad the FBI's vendetta against Martin Luther King, Jr., and the operations of the National Security Agency, the Internal Revenue Service, military intelligence, and other agencies involved in political spying and intelligence-gathering during the 1960s. The authors propose reforms for controlling the intelligence agencies and state that unless Congress adopts effective controls over these agencies, a police state is eminent.

4. Kirkpatrick, Lyman B. The U.S. Intelligence Community: Foreign Policy and Domestic Activities. New York: Hill and Wang, 1973. 212pp. $7.95.

The author, a former CIA official, describes the impact of intelligence collection and analysis on policy-making in the White House. He describes intelligence successes and failures of the Bay of Pigs invasion, the Cuban missile crisis, and the Vietnam war. Kirkpatrick also promulgates ways of controlling the intelligence agencies so that they do not violate our basic constitutional guarantees.

5. Marchetti, Victor and John D. Marks. The C.I.A. and the Cult of Intelligence. New York: Knopf, 1974. 398pp. $10.00.

The authors, one of whom was a CIA officer, the other of whom worked for the State Department, expose many controversial activities of the CIA. The legality and morality of some of those activities are explored. The CIA tried to ban the book and eventually succeeded in censoring several sections.

6. Watters, Pat and Stephen Gillers, eds. Investigating the FBI. Garden City, N.Y.: Doubleday & co., 1973. 518pp.

A scrutinization of the FBI, this work was based on a conference on the FBI held at Princeton University in 1971, and sponsored by the Committee for Public Justice and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. Edited versions of the papers presented at the conference and significant segments of the dialogue and panel discussions formulate the basis of the book. Issues such as the Bureau's history, responsibilities, its relationship to other police forces, its performance in the areas of civil rights and crime, the collection and dissemination of personal and political information, and the use of electronic surveillance are probed.

VII. Military Service/The War in Southeast Asia

1. Bannan, John F. and Rosemary S. Bannan. Law, Morality, and Vietnam: The Peace Militants and the Courts. Bloomington, Indiana: Indiana University Press, 1974. 241pp. $12.50.

Between 1965 and 1969 American peace militants attempted to involve the nation's judicial system in the dispute over the Vietnam war. Prompting arrest by deliberately breaking the law, the peace militants used the courts to question the morality and constitutionality of America's involvement in the Southeast Asian war. The authors describe and analyze six trials--the Berrigans, Dr. Benjamin Spock, The Reverend William Sloan Coffin, David Mitchell, David Miller, the Fort Hood Three, and the Oakland Seven, and discuss their implications on the American political scene.

2. Friedman, Leon and Burt Neuborne. Unquestioning Obedience to the President: The ACLU Case Against the Illegal War in Vietnam. New York: Norton, 1972. 284pp. $8.95.

This volume consists of excerpts from court briefs and judicial opinions in connection with the efforts of Salvatore Orlando and Malcolm Berk to persuade several Federal judges to rule the Vietnam war unconstitutional. These suits were brought by the New York Civil Liberties Union. The validity of the actions taken based on the Tonkin Gulf Resolution are dealt with at length. A valuable record of important cases where, for the first time, the principle of judicial review of Presidential war-making was clearly recognized by the courts. For attorneys,and advanced students.

3. Rivkin, Robert S. GI Rights and Army Justice: The Draftee's Guide to Military Life and Law. New York: Grove Press, 1970. 383pp. pap. $1.75.

A guidebook for military personnel on the legal rights of the soldier within the military justice system. Material covered includes: freedom of expression, right to privacy, how to file a complaint or bring charges, interrogations and self-incrimination, conscientious objectors, and others. Appendix contains resolutions of the National Conference on GI Rights, GI Newspapers and Coffeehouses, Counselling Organizations and Lawyer Referral Services.

*4. Rivkin, Robert S. and Barton F. Stichman. The Rights of Military Personnel. (American Civil Liberties Union Handbook series). New York: Avon, 1977. 158pp pap. $1.50.

Question and answer approach to the rights of military personnel under military and civil law. Covers court martials, AWOL and desertion, conscientious objectors, First Amendment rights, right to privacy, discharge from the military and other information. Appendix lists civilian counseling groups in the United States and abroad. Revised edition of The Rights of Servicemen.

5. Schardt, Arlie, William A. Rusher, and Senator Mark O. Hatfield. Amnesty? The Unsettled Question of Vietnam. Lawrence, Mass: Two Continents Press, 1973. 148pp. $5.95.

Three different viewpoints by able spokesmen on the question of amnesty for Americans who refused service during the Vietnam War.

C. DUE PROCESS OF LAW

I. Police Practices

1. Black, Algernon. D. The People and the Police. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1968. 246pp.

This book is a product of the author's experience as chairman of the 1966 Civilian Complaint Review Board of the Police Department of New York City. Black illustrates the types of grievances presented to the Board, and how these complaints were handled. Specific recommendations in the handling of civil disturbances without causing a riot are also discussed. A study of the civilian complaint review board experience and the future role of the "Ombudsman."

2. Chevigny, Paul. Cops & Rebels: A Study of Provocation. New York: Pantheon Books, 1972. 332pp. $7.95.

A study of police provocation, entrapment, and other means of police abuse, using the New York City police infiltration of the Black Panther Party as an example. Also examines the history of political provocation, citing cases from France, Russia, Great Britain, Germany and Italy.

3. Chevigny, Paul. Police Power: Police Abuses in New York City. New York: Pantheon Books, 1969. 246pp. pap. $1.95.

An analysis of such police abuses as denials of due process of law by false arrest, by unlawful search, and police brutality. The purpose of the study is to find out what is wrong, and why, with law enforcement chiefly in the streets of New York City. For the layperson; law enforcement officer.

4. Creamer, J. Shane. A Citizen's Guide to His (Sic) Legal Rights. New York: Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 1971. 338pp. $7.95.

Discussion of constitutional rights on probable cause, police investigation, arrest, search and seizure, and exclusion of evidence on theoretical and practical grounds. Also discusses recent Supreme Court rulings on the Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Amendments. An appendix on what to do if arrested is included.

5. Cuban, Larry and Lawrence Aaronson. You've Been Arrested. (People and the City Series) Glenview, Illinois: Scott, Foresman and Company, 1972. 48pp. pap. $1.08.

Discusses rights of the accused and criminal procedure, covering Gideon (right to counsel), Escobedo, (right to counsel during course of police interrogation) and In Re Gault (juvenile rights). This work is designed for slow readers in junior and high school.

6. Feder, Bernard. The Policeman and the Citizens: The Politics of Law and Order. Cincinnati: American Book Company, 1973. 83pp. pap. $1.56.

Explores the conflicts between individual rights and law enforcement through the study of several cases, including Escobedo v. Illinois (the right to counsel), and Miranda v. Arizona (privilege against self-incrimination). Also looks at the issues and facts involved in the police-youth confrontations in Chicago during the 1968 Democratic Convention. Includes discussion questions, political cartoons, and capsulized positions of prominent politicians, police officers, columnists, scholars, civil rights leaders, and others. Text-book for high school students.

7. Gillers, Stephen. Getting Justice: The Rights of People. Bergenfield, N.J.: New American Library, 1971. 226pp. pap. $1.50.

Discusses the interpretation of many American rights in light of recent Supreme Court rulings (as of 1971), including chapters on due process, arrest, search and seizure, eavesdropping, the right to counsel, police interrogation, and juvenile justic Appnedices include a list of Supreme Court justices, selected constitutional amendments, and diagrams relating to the criminal justice system.

8. Meltzer, Milton. The Right to Remain Silent. New York: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, 1972. 130pp. $5.95.

A historical account of the evolution of the right to remain silent, from the days of the Inquisition up to the recen t Supreme Court rulings. For the high school student.

9. Neier, Aryeh. Crime and Punishment: A Radical Solution. New York: Stein & Day, 1976. 239pp. $8.95.

Recommends proposals for reforming the way law enforcement agencies deal with crime, and offers alternatives to prison and other means of punishment. Material covers victimless crime (prostitution, public drunkenness, and drugs), gun control, police crime, juvenile arrests, parole, plea bargaining, among other information.

*10. Rosengart, Oliver and Gail Weinheimer. The Rights of Suspects: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Suspect's Rights. (American Civil Liberties Union Handbooks series), New York: Avon Books 1974. 122pp. pap. $1.25.

A handbook, in question and answer format, outlining the implications of the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments for the due process rights of Americans. Includes discussions of rights when individuals are involved in confrontations with police, rights of suspects upon arrest, due process rights in court, and options open to persons wishing to protest police misconduct in relation to an individual's constitutional rights. Appendix includes a sample writ of habeas corpus and a sample petition for the writ.

11. Waddington, Lawrence C. Arrest, Search, and Seizure. (Glencoe Press Criminal Justice Series). Riverside, N.J.: Glencoe Press, 1974. 227 pp. $9.95.

Discussion of the Fourth Amendment protection against unreasonable search and seizure. Written for law enforcement officers, this volume can also be helpful for teachers seeking materials to help students better understand the Amendment's significance today.

12. Zarr, Melvyn. The Bill of Rights and the Police. (Legal Almanac Series) N.Y.: Oceana, 1970. 119pp. $4.00.

Discussion of the constitutional limitations on police power. Covers police and the First Amendment, definition of criminal conduct, arrest, search and seizure, and cites Supreme Court cases where such police conduct was challenged. Appendix includes opinions in Miranda v. Arizona and Davis v. Mississippi.

II. Court Proceedings.

1. Eaneman, Paulette S., Michel Lipman, and Nancy Zupanec. Fair Procedures. Berkeley, CA: Project Benchmark, 1973. 22pp. pap. $1.00.

Explains our constitutional right to due process and discusses the origins and development of fair procedures. Includes sections on unfair trials, search and seizure, and equal protection. Also provides a sample mock trial. Although this work is geared to California law, most sections are generally applicable. For grades 6-12.

2. Feder, Bernard. The Policeman and the Citizens: The Politics of Law and Order. Cincinnati: American Book Company, 1973. 83pp. pap. $1.56.

Explores the conflicts between individual rights and law enforcement through the study of several cases, including Escobedo v. Illinois (the right to counsel), and Miranda v. Arizona (privilege against self-incrimination). Also looks at the issues and facts involved in the police-youth confrontations in Chicago during the 1968 Democratic Convention. Includes discussion questions, political cartoons, and capsulized positions of prominent politicians, police officers, columnists, scholars, civil rights leaders, and others. Textbook for high school students.

3. Fellman, David. The Defendant's Rights Today. Madison, WI: The University of Wisconsin Press, 1976. 446pp. $20.00.

Provides an up-to-date analysis of the rights of the accused in the criminal justice system, including both State and Federal law, and dealing with the decisions of the Supreme Court. Defendant's rights are broad and complex, and the author explores the underlying concepts and discusses the criminal justice system from arrest through trial, to post-conviction remedies. Written in lay language, it is designed for political scientists, students of public law, and all who are interested in due process. This volume supersedes the author's 1958 work.

4. Galloway, John, ed. The Supreme Court and the Rights of the Accused. New York: Facts on File, 1973. 460pp. $10.95.

Discussion of the facts, issues, and decisions of many Supreme Court cases involving the rights of accused. Includes information on the right to counsel, freedom from self-incrimination, right to cross-examination, right to a speedy trial, right to obtain witnesses, rights relating to juries, the meaning of double jeopardy, the use of confessions, Fourth Amendment protections from searches and seizures, admissible eye-witness identifications, capital punishment, the rights of juveniles and plea bargaining. For use in the high school classroom.

5. Gora, Joel. Due Process of Law. (To Protect These Rights series). Skokie, Illinois: National Textbook Company, 1977. 266pp. pap. $5.75 [4]

One of a series of six books published in conjunction with the American Civil Liberties Union on the individual's right to due process of law. Traces the development of due process of law, from the Magna Carta to the Constitution. Examines the criminal justice process, from confrontation with the police through appeal proceedings, and discusses due process safeguards to protect the individual from government encroachment. Provides excerpts from leading Supreme Court opinions and other documents. Includes a table of cases cited. Can be used in the high school and college classroom as well as a source book for the lawyer.

6. Katz, Lewis R., Lawrence Litwin, and Richard Bamberger. Justice is the Crime: Pretrial Delay in Felony Cases. Cleveland: The Press of Case Western Reserve University, 1972. 386pp.

Pretrial delay, the authors state, is the central factor in the present deterioration of the American criminal court system. This study, designed for the lay person as well as the legal specialist, shows how delay is an integral part of each stage of a criminal prosecution, up to the moment of the trial.

---

4) Other books in the series are: Freedom of Speech, Religious Freedom, Rights of Privacy, Racial Equality, and Woman & the Law. Books can be ordered from the ACLU Literature Department, and individual copies are available to affiliates and other groups at a discount of 20%, or $4.60 each. Quantities of 20 or more books are available to affiliates at a discount of 33%, or $3.80 each. With orders of 20 or more books, the titles can be mixed.

The authors discuss the role of delay in the charging process, bail, preliminary hearing and indictment, arraignment, discovery and plea bargaining, and offer constructive criticism and recommendations for reduction of pretrial delay.

7. Lewis, Anthony. Clarence Earl Gideon and the Supreme Court. Westminister, MD: Vintage Books, 1964. 262pp. pap. $2.45.

Study of Gideon's fight to reverse his conviction, with narration of trials, documents, and background materials. Presents the Supreme Court's decision on due process rights on indigent defendants.

9. Nagal, Stuart S., ed. The Rights of the Accused in Law and Action. (The Sage Criminal Justice System Annuals). Beverly Hills, CA: Sage Publications, 1972. 320pp. $17.50.

A study of the rights of the accused from the original arrest to the final appeal. The rights, nine in number, offer a legal and philosophical perspective for the lay person.

10. Starr, Isidore. Justice Under Law/Right to Counsel: The Gideon Case. (Our Living Bill of Rights series) Chicago: Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corporation, 1968. 72pp. pap. $1.25.

Sourcebook of materials on the right to counsel and to due process. Centers on Gideon v. Wainwright (indigent's right to counsel). Includes historical documents on trial rights, opinions and original petition in the Gideon case, and opinions in In Re Gault (juvenile due process rights), and other materials on juvenile due process. Also discusses the effects of recent decisions on legal processes. For the junior and high school student.

III. Capital Punishment

1. Bedau, Hugo Adam, ed. The Death Penalty in America: An Anthology. Rev. ed. Garden City, N.Y.: Anchor Books, 1967. 584pp. pap. $2.45.

A study of capital punishment, presenting both sides of the argument, by one of the outstanding scholars of the field.

6. Mackey, Philip English. Voices Against Death: American Opposition to Capital Punishment, 1787-1975. New York: Burt Franklin & Co., 1976. 362pp. $12.95.

A collection of essays, reports, letters, poems, debates and briefs, beginning with Benjamin Rush and ending with Hugo Adam Bedau's pamphlet for ACLU on the death penalty. An historical collection of arguments, by able spokespeople, against capital punishment.

7. Meltsner, Michael. Cruel and Unusual: The Supreme Court and Capital Punishment. New York: Random House, 1973. 338pp. pap. $3.95.

Provides background information on the nine-year struggle of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund to challenge the constitutionality of the death penalty. Details the litigation strategy waged by the LDF in a series of cases (Addery, Maxwell, Anderson and Furman) and summarizes the Supreme Court arguments.

8. Wolfe, Burton H. Pileup on Death Row. Garden City, N.Y.: Doubleday & Co., 1973. 439pp. $10.00.

The author focuses on the political and legal struggle in California against capital punishment. The book also provides the cases as Powell v. Alabama, and the Scottsboro Boys case. Appendices contain excerpts from Camus' Reflections on the Guillotine, The End of the McNabbs, The Little Lindbergh Law, and Trop v. Dulles.

IV. Rights of Prisoners

1. Hermann, Michele G. and Marilyn G. Haft, eds. Prisoners' Rights Sourcebook: Theory, Litigation, Practice. New York: Clark Boardman Co., 1973. 806pp. $27.50.

A collection of articles by scholars on legal, historical, sociological and political perspectives of rights of the incarcerated. Noteworthy chapters cover First Amendment rights, due process, medical treatment of prisoners, parole, and procedural aspects of prisoners' rights litigation. For the legal specialist.

2. Bedau, Hugo Adam and Chester M. Pierce, eds. Capital Punishment in the United States. New York: AMS Press, 1976. 567pp. $25.00.

A collection of reprints of articles on the death penalty, since the Supreme Court's ruling in Furman v. Georgia. The material covers judicial decision, scientific evidence and legislative response, administering criminal justice in murder and rape cases, public reaction to the death penalty, how juries perceive capital cases, death row, and others.

3. Black, Charles L. Capital Punishment: The Inevitability of Caprice and Mistake. New York: Norton, 1974. 96pp. $5.95, pap. $1.95.

Deals with two aspects of capital punishment--the possibility of mistake and arbitrariness in sentencing the death penalty. Hugh Adam Bedau praises this work for anticipating the main issues argued in Fowler v. North Carolina.

4. Bowers, William J. Executions in America. Lexington, MA: Lexington Books, 1974. 489pp. $20.00.

A study of capital sentences in the United States, including the names, race, date and jurisdiction of every execution conducted by state authorities between the years 1864-1967. Includes a legal and scientific bibliography that can be used as a reference tool on capital punishment for the scholar requiring comprehensive, up-to-date, and reliable information.

5. McCafferty, James A., ed. Capital Punishment. Chicago: Aldine-Atherton, Inc. 1972. 273pp. $8.95; pap. $3.95.

A collection of essays, published before the Furman decision, on the case for and against the death penalty. Contributing authors include: Hugo Adam Bedau, Ernest Van Den Haag, Ramsey Clark, Jack Greenberg, and others. Contains a bibliography of articles, books, official reports, and bibliographies on capital punishment.

2. Frankel, Marvin E. Criminal Sentences: Law Without Order. New York: Hill and Wang, 1973. 124pp. pap. $3.25.

Discusses the inefficiencies of judicial criminal sentencing and offers proposals for improving sentencing practices. Includes a chapter on the injustices of the indeterminate sentence.

3. Potts, James and edited by Alvin Bronstein. Prisoners' Self-Help Litigation Manual. Washington, D.C.: The National Prison Project of the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation, 1976. 145pp. pap. $5.00. free to prisoners.

Litigation manual providing information for prisoners preparing legal actions. This material covers how the legal system works, legal research, the law of prisoners' rights, judicial remedies, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, parole, post-conviction relief, detainers and jailtime credit, and how to protect yourself from retaliation. Each chapter has its own bibliography and the manual lists legal organizations, news media, and congresspeople who are interested in prisoners' rights. Appendix contains rules for habeas corpus and sentence challenges, locations of federal courts, forms, and other useful information.

*4. Rudovsky, David. The Rights of Prisoners: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Prisoner's Rights. (American Civil Liberties Union Handbook series). New York: Avon Books, 1973. 128pp. pap. $.95. [5]

Question and answer approach presenting information about the rights of prisoners. Includes a discussion of First Amendment rights, cruel and unusual punishment, privacy, medical care, racial discrimination and parole. Appendix contains a list of legal organizations active in litigating prisoners' rights and a selective bibliography.

5. Von Hirsch, Andrew. Doing Justice: The Choice of Punishments. New York: Hill and Wang, 1976. 179pp. $9.95.

5) The new revised edition of this handbook is now in stock.

Report of the Committee for the Study of Incarceration investigating the rationale of punishment and the sentencing process. Studies the present criminal justice system with respect to sentencing, deterrence and rehabilitation. Proposes alternatives to imprisonment and reforms in the sentencing process, among them the elimination of the indeterminate sentence.

V. Rights of Hospital Patients, the Mentally Ill, and the Mentally Retarded.

*1. Annas, George. The Rights of Hospital Patients: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Hospital Patient's Rights. (American Civil Liberties Union Handbook series). New York: Avon Books, 1975.246pp. pap. $1.50.

Question and answer format presenting information on the rights of hospital patients. Material covers the patient rights movement, organization and rules of the hospital, the emergency room, admission and discharge, informed consent to treatment, refusing treatment, medical experimentation, hospital records, confidentiality and privacy, and many other issues. Appendix contains a glossary of medical terms, medical abbreviations, bibliography of medical and legal literature, a model patient Bill of Rights, and organizations involved in litigating rights of patients.

2. Ennis, Bruce J. Prisoners of Psychiatry: Mental Patients, Psychiatrists, and the Law. New York: Avon Books, 1974. 253 pp. pap. $1.65.

Delves into the legal and human problems of mental patients who are institutionalized against their wills, and discusses the author's efforts to represent mental patients. Provides narratives of actual cases.

*3. Ennis, Bruce, and Loren Siegel. The Rights of Mental Patients: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Mental Patient's Rights. (American Civil Liberties Union Handbook series). New York: Avon Books, 1973. 336pp. pap. $1.25.

Question and answer approach to the rights of the mentally ill. Discussed common procedures for involuntary hospitalization, voluntary admissions, conditional and unconditional release, the right to treatment, confidentiality of records, human experimentation, legal restoration of rights upon release, and many other rights. The lengthy appendices contain mental hygiene statutes from 50 states and the District of Columbia, trial techniques, bibliography, landmark case (Wyatt v. Stickney), and minimum standards for treatment. A new revised edition of this handbooks is now available.

*4. Friedman, Paul R. The Rights of Mentally Retarded Persons: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Mentally Retarded Person's Rights. (American Civil Liberties Union Handbook series). New York: Avon Books, 1976. 186pp. pap. $1.50.

Question and answer format to the rights of mentally retarded persons. This material covers six broad areas, the problems of classification, overview of civil commitment, competency and guardianship proceedings, rights of mentally retarded persons in institutions, in the community, and in the criminal process, and the right to a legal advocate. Appendix contains a glossary of legal and medical retardation terms, bibliography, organizations concerned with the rights of mentally retarded persons, U.N. declaration of the rights of Mentally Retarded Persons, and the official statement of the American Association on Mental Deficiency.

5. The Mentally Retarded Citizen and the Law. Sponsored by the President's Committee on Mental Retardation. New York: The Free Press, 1976. 738pp. $18.95.

Analyzes the legal rights of mentally retarded persons. Contributing authors (lawyers, mental retardation professionals, educators, civil libertarians, and others) cover the following topics: personal and civil rights of the mentally retarded (i.e., guardianship, right to privacy, trust and estate planning), rights of mentally retarded citizens within community systems (such as housing, education, and employment), institutionalization and the rights of the mentally retarded, and the mentally retarded person and the criminal and correctional process. A reference source for the lawyer, mental retardation professional and for anyone concerned with the legal rights of mentally retarded persons.

VI Juvenile Due Process

1. Cuban, Larry and Lawrence Aaronson. You've Been Arrested. (People and the City Series). Glenview, Il.: Scott, Foresman and Company, 1972. 48 pp. pap. $1.08.

Discusses rights of the accused and criminal procedure, covering Gideon (right to counsel), Escobedo, (right to counsel during the course of police interrogation) and In Re Gault (juvenile rights). This work is designed for slow readers in junior and high school).

2. Cutler, Charles L. and Howard J. Schwach, with Michael E. Geltner Juveniles and the Law. (Background Series). Columbus, Ohio: Xerox Education Publications, 1975. 47 pp. pap. $.50.

A series of articles, vignettes, letters, comics and historical sketches on the development and practice of juvenile law in the United States. Discusses In Re Gault (juvenile due process) and Goss v. Lopez (student's right to an informal hearing when threatened with suspension from public school), dress codes, the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (Buckley Amendment giving parent's right to look at school records and challenge their contents), attitudes on a proposed curfew ordinance, a case study of how the law works to prevent child abuse, and hypothetical situations involving free speech issues. Also presents a situation in which a young man is arrested by mistake, and poses questions about mistakes made by the police officer and the boy. Also describes the hypothetical situation of a town temporarily without law enforcement. For students in grades 6-8.

3. Dorman, Michael. Under 21: A Young People's Guide to Legal Rights. New York: Dell Publishing Co., 1971. 186 pp. pap. $.75.

Addressing itself to the high school and college student, this work clearly explains the legal rights of young people. These rights include: freedom of belief, expression and association, due process, drugs and parental abuse. The appendices include excerpts on freedom of the press and on due process from Academic Freedom in the Secondary Schools, published by ACLU.

4. Eaneman, Paulette S., Michel Lipman and Nancy Zupanec. Juvenile Rights. 2nd ed. Berkeley, Ca., Project Benchmark, 1974. 39 pp. pap. $1.50

Discusses the legal rights of children under 18 in such areas as truancy, discipline, school records, freedom of expression, search and seizure, marriage, work, contracts, credit, motor vehicles, and hitchhiking. Also provides information about juvenile courts and crimes and a sample lesson for teachers to use in helping students draft a juvenile bill of rights. Please note that most of the material is relevant to California law. For the junior and high school student.

5. Gross, Beatrice, and Ronald Gross, eds. The Children's Rights Movement: Overcoming the Oppression of Young People. Garden City, N.Y.: Anchor Press, 1977.257 pp.

Contains reprints of materials on the rights of children. The material covers such matters as: child abuse, violation of basic civil liberties as freedom of speech, due process, etc., the children's rights movement, and a bill of rights for youth. Contains a valuable, annotated bibliography of books and audiovisual materials on children's rights, and lists organizations providing legal assistance and information.

6. Haskins, Jim. Your Rights, Past and Present: A Guide for Young People. New York: Hawthorn Books, 1975. 128 pp. $5.95.

Analyzes the legal rights of children and teenagers by looking at young people's rights in relation to labor, the school, the home and family, and the juvenile justice system. Provides both historical and contemporary perspectives.

7. Lobenthal, Joseph S. Growing up Clean in America. New York: The World Publishing Co., 1970. 224 pp. $6.95.

Legal cards are often stacked against American youth simply because they lack familiarity with the laws which affect them. This handbook is designed to provide that basic familiarity with the assets and liabilities provided under the law. It briefs the reader on what his/her rights are and are not in various situations; on how best to react in their own interest and on what to expect if he/she knowingly runs those risks. For the young American, activist or not, and for parents who are more concerned "for" their children than "about" them.

8. Loeb, Robert H., Jr. and John P. Maloney. Your Legal Rights as a Minor. New York: Franklin Watts, 1974. 192 pp. $5.85.

General but informative presentation seeking to increase a minor's awareness of his/her rights and responsibilities. Covers federal and state laws, emphasizing the reasoning behind the various laws governing minors. Specific areas include commercial activity, work, school, sexual matters, rights and restrictions on driving, and rights when arrested. Brief discussions of major cases, and explanations of legal terminology. Aimed at grades 10-12.

9. National Street Law Institute and Bar Association of the District of Columbia. What Happens If You're Arrested. Washington, D.C.: D.C. Project: Street Law, 20 pp. pap. $.50.

Pamphlet about the juvenile justice system and a juvenile's rights. Takes the juvenile step by step through the system, from arrest through conviction. The text suggests ways in which juveniles can assist themselves at each stage.

10. Platt, Anthony M. The Child Savers: The Invention of Delinquency. Chicago: The University of Chicago Press, 1969. 230 pp. pap. $2.95.

The "child savers" were social reformers of the late nineteenth century who helped establish correctional institutions for delinquent children. This study focuses on the origins and achievements of the child saving movement in Chicago, and the establishment of the juvenile court system. Depicts the child savers as non-civil libertarians, and shows how the movement attempt to control the lives of lower-class youths. Appendix contains case material on how children were treated by the nineteenth century criminal courts. Includes bibliography.

11. Rieves, Linda and Sally Mahe. Juvenile Problems and Law. (Law in Action Series). Mineola, N.Y.: West Publishing Company, 1975. 95 pp. pap. $3.25.

Lessons on the administration of juvenile justice from arrest through correctional processes. Includes In Re Gault stop and frisk procedures, and legal and social problems faced by young people. Most activities are open ended in this textbook, allowing for student discussion and decisionmaking. A silent filmstrip is available with this textbook. Designed for grades 5-9.

12. Rubin. Sol. Law of Juvenile Justice. (Legal Almanac Series #22) New Yorl: Oceana, 1976. 119 pp.

Outlines the major Supreme Court decisions dealing with the juvenile justice system. Discusses the rights of children to due process of law, and shows how the courts have abused that right. Presents a model juvenile court statute and appendix contains the decision in In Re Gault (juvenile due process) and the 1959 Standard Juvenile Court Act.

13. Rosenheim, Margaret K., ed. Pursuing Justice for the Child. (Studies in Crime and Justice). Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1976. 361 pp. $12.95.

Examines the purpose and function of the juvenile court system and offers new approaches to the improvement of juvenile justice. Material is divided into four chapters: Justice for the Child, Justice for the Delinquent Child, Justice for the Nondelinquent Child, and Justice for the Child: Other Times, Other Places. Two sections of special interest are "Developing Constitutional Rights of, in, and for Children" and "Privacy, recordkeeping, and juvenile justice." For the lawyer, sociologist, judge, law enforcement official.

14. Schrag, Peter and Diane Divoky. The Myth of the Hyperactive Child and Other Means of Child Control. New York: Pantheon Books, 1975. 285 pp. $10.00.

Expose of the methods emp-oyed by schools, doctors, and juvenile authorities to manage and control "troublesome children." Discusses the traditional methds of punishment and control and tells how these methods are being replaced by behavior modification and other forms of medical and social treatment. Of special interest is a chapter on the dossiers of children maintained by schools, the police, welfare and medical agencies, and other bureaus.

15. Seagraves, Roy W., Henry B. McDaniel, and Betty A. Truce, Juveniles Have Rights, Too. (Rules and Rights Series). Belmont, CA: Fearon Publishers, 1973. 112 pp. pap. $3.00.

Twelve case studies covering various topics, including the negative consequences of drug abuse and vandalism, the need for rules, and the rights of juveniles. Text emphasises the role of police in law enforcement and the responsibilities of juveniles. Aimed at grades 7-10, this book has questions and a quiz at the end of each unit.

VII. Privacy

*1. Bogan, E. Carrington, and others. The Rights of Gay People: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Gay Person's Rights. American Civil Liberties Union Handbook series). New York: Avon Books, 1975. 268 pp. pap. $1.75

Another ACLU handbook, in question and answer format, presenting information on a gay person's rights under the present law. Material includes freedom of speech and association, the right to equal employment, the Armed Services, housing and public accomodations, the gay family, the rights of transvestites and transsexuals, and other issues. The appendix contains American laws applicable to consensual adult homosexual acts, statutory provisions affecting the licensing of gays, joint domicile agreement, a bibliography, anti-discrimination laws of Minneapolis, Minnesota and East Lansing, Michigan affecting gays and a list of ACLU state affiliates and gay organizations.

2. Breckenridge, Adam Carlyle. The Right to Privacy. Lincoln, NE: University of Nebraska Press, 1970. 155pp. $6.95.

This book addresses itself to the question of the extent to which the individual is protected from the arbitrary and unreasonable intrusions into his/her privacy by the Bill of Rights and the Fourteenth Amendment. The individual's right to determine how much of him/herself he/she wishes to share with others inevitably comes into conflict. In light of Supreme Court and other decisions, the author examines this dilemma and points out that some rights are superior to others.

3. Garrison, Omar V. Spy Government: The Emerging Police State In America. New York: Lyle Stuart, 1967. 277 pp. $5.95.

Presents an alarming array of evidence to show that some Federal agencies seek to penetrate not only our homes but our minds. A vast amount of data about the private affairs of all of us is being gathered by scores of official bureaus and may eventually be stored in a centralized government computer system for instant retrieval. This volume stimulates much sober reflection and concern about our cherished right to privacy, but should be updated with a more recent work.

16. Starr, Isidore. Justice Under Law/ Right to Counsel: The Gideon Case. (Our Living Bill of Rights series) Chicago: Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corporation, 1968. 72pp. pap. $1.25.

Sourcebook of materials on the right to counsel and to due process. Centers on Gideon v. Wainwright (indigent's right to counsel). Includes historical documents on trial rights, opinions and original petition in the Gideon case, and opinions in In Re Gault (juvenile due process rights), and other materials on juvenile due process. Also discusses the effects of recent decisions on legal processes. For the junior and high school student.

*17. Sussman, Alan. The Rights of Young People: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Young Person's Rights. (American Civil Liberties Union Handbook series). New York: Avon, 1977. 251 pp. pap. $1.50.

Handbook in question and answer format presenting information on the rights of young people under the age of 18. This material included age majority and emancipation, medical care, work, status offenses, juvenile due process, child abuse and neglect, access to courts, child custody, adoption and illegitimacy, curfews, marriage, statutory rape, the draft and much more. There is also a chapter on legal organizations involved in the defense of juveniles. Appendices contain a state-by-state listing of the exact age young people have gained various rights and the United Nations Declaration of the Rights of the Child. Includes a selected bibliography.

18. Sussmann, Frederick B. and Frederic S. Baum. Law of Juvenile Delinquency. 3rd ed. (Legal Almanac Series). New York: Oceana, 1968. 110pp. $4.95.

Discusses various aspects of juvenile law and the juvenile court system. Reflects some of the changed interpretations resulting from the Gault decisions (due process rights of juveniles). Appendices include a state-by-state summary of the jurisdiction of juvenile courts, the Interstate Compact on Juveniles, and some summaries of pertinent legislation from 1957 on.

4. Miller, Arthur R. The Assault on Privacy: Computers, Data Banks, and Dossiers. Bergenfield, N.J.: The New American Library, 1971. 334 pp. pap. $1.50

Warns of the many ways computerized networks of information are affecting our civil liberties, and discusses inadequacies in present laws governing such networks. Raises many interesting questions about the right to privacy, but this work should be updated with more recent information on legislation and court decisions relating to invasions of privacy.

5. Neier, Aryeh. Dossier: The Secret Files they Keep on You. New York: Stein & Day, 1975. 216pp. $7.95, pap. $2.45.

An account of the files kept by the government and business interests on various activities of American citizens. Material includes school records, juvenile court records, records of treatment for drug addiction and mental illness, Army discharge records, arrest and conviction records, FBI files, and many others. Appendix contains procedures for veterans wishing to delete their Separation Program Number (SPN) or Separation Designation Number (SDN) from their "Report of Separation from Active Duty" form, and a table of revised enlisted separation program numbers and definitions.

6. Oliver, Donald W. and Fred M. Newmann. Privacy. (Public Issues Series). Columbus, Ohio: Xerox Education Publications, 1970. 64 pp. pap. $.50.

Examines how rights guaranteed under the Fourth Amendment are being eroded by government data banks and dossiers, and by private organizations with access to psychological and physiological information on individuals. For the high school student.

7. Rosenberg, Jerry. The Death of Privacy. New York: Random House, 1969. 236 pp.

A description of how personal information about the individual is collected, stored and crossfiled in computers both by private and governmental agencies. The author contends that the right to privacy should be preserved, and that such departments as the Internal Revenue Service, the Census Bureau, and the Office of Education, present a grave threat to our freedom and privacy.

8. Severn, Bill. The Right to Privacy. New York: Ives Washburn, Inc., 1973. 186 pp. $5.95.

This book probes the right to privacy with regard to snooping by private and public authorities utilizing wiretapping, television monitoring, and the filing of personal data into computer banks.

Also examines the invasion of privacy by psychological testing and credit rating. Explores both the right to know and the right to be left alone.

9. Shattuck, John H.F. Rights of Privacy. (To Protect these Rights series). Skokie, Illinois: National Textbook Company, 1977. 210 pp. pap. $5.75.(6)

One of a series of six books published in conjunction with the American Civil Liberties Union on the individual's right to privacy. Traces the development of the Fourth Amendment's protection against unreasonable search and seizure, discusses the privacy of association, belief, and personal autonomy, and examines the impact of record-keeping and data banks on the individual's freedom. Provides excerpts from leading Supreme Court opinions and other documents. Includes a table of cited cases. Can be used in the high school and college classroom as well as a source book for the lawyer and civil libertarian.

10. Snyder, Gerald S. The Right to Be Left Alone. New York: Julian Messner, 1975. 192 pp. $5.79.

Broad discussion of our shrinking right to privacy, including an analysis of the constitutional and historical basis for this right. Describes the effects of modern technology, with an emphasis on the problems posed by electronic surveillance and computer data banks.

11. Surveillance, Dataveillance, and Personal Freedoms: Use and Abuse of Information and Technology, edited by the staff Human Rights Law Review. Fair Lawn, N.J.: R.E. Burdick, 1973. 247 pp. $9.00.

A book for every citizen concerned with the spreading growth of secret surveillance and surveillance technology. Contributing authors include: Arthur R. Miller, Sam J. Ervin, Frank Askin and others, and cover such topics as: police surveillance, crime data centers, privacy and the First Amendment.

12. Westin, Alan. Privacy and Freedom. New York: Atheneum, 1967. 487 pp. $12.50.

A probing analysis of the issue of privacy and its psychological, sociological and political implications. Deals with many ways privacy is eroded by data banks, psychological probes, and electronic devices.

---

6) Other books in the series are: Freedom of Speech, Religious Freedom, Due Process of Law, Racial Equality, and Woman & The Law. Books can be ordered from the literature department, and individual copies are available to affiliates and other groups at a discount of 20%, or $4.60 each. Quantities of 20 ore more books are available to affiliates at a discount of 33%, or $3.90 each. With orders of 20 or more books, the titles can be mixed.

D. EQUALITY BEFORE THE LAW

I. Racial Discrimination

1. Holden, Anne. The School Bus Stops Here: A Study of School Desegregation in Three Cities. New York: Agathon Press, 1974. 500 pp. $15.00.

Explores the regional, racial, social and economic factors that impede progress towards the widely accepted goal of racial balance in the schools. The three cities chosen for study are: Charlottesville, Virginia, Providence, Rhode Island, and Sacramento, California, and were selected because they represent in ethnic composition and patterns of resistance, a sampling of problems facing similar sized U.S. cities. Examines the conflicting pressures in the school bus controversy.

2. Kluger, Richard. Simple Justice: A History of Brown v. Board of Education and Black America's Struggle for Equality. New York: Knopf, 1976. 823 pp. $15.95.

Presents the background of the landmark Supreme Court Case of Brown v. Board of Education which outlawed segregation, and details Black America's struggle for equality. Appendix contains text of the Brown decision and a selective bibliography. For the lawyer.

3. Latham, Frank B. The Rise and Fall of "Jim Crow," New York: Franklin Watts, 1969. 72 pp. $4.33.

History of segregation laws from Reconstruction through the Supreme Court decision of Plessy v. Ferguson to the overruling of the "separate but equal" doctrine in Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka. Discusses the black struggle to win equal rights and equal protection of the law. For the high school student.

*4. Law, Sylvia. The Rights of the Poor: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Poor Person's Rights. (American Civil Liberties Union handbook series). New York: Avon, 1974. 176 pp. pap. $1.25.

Handbook, in question and answer form, providing information on the rights of the poor. Material covers: welfare, work requirements, general assistance, fair hearings, health services, food stamps, free school lunches, and a section on the rights of migrant workers. Includes chart on the rights of the poor in various states (chart should be supplemented with more recent material).

5. McDonald, Laughlin. Racial Equality. (To Protect these Rights series). Skokie, Illinois: National Textbook Co., 1977. 155 pp. $5.75.[7]

One of a series of 6 books, published in conjunction with the American Civil Liberties Union, on racial discrimination against Blacks. The struggle of blacks to achieve racial equality is traced from the Federal position on slavery through the Supreme Court decisions of the 1970s Provides excerpts from landmark Supreme Court opinions and other historic documents. Includes a table of cited cases.

6. Merriwether, Louise. Don't Ride the Bus on Monday: The Rosa Parks Story. Englewood Cliffs, N.J.: Prentice-Hall, Inc. 1973. 32pp. $4.95.

The story of Rosa Parks, the black woman who spearheaded the 1955 Montgomery bus boycott. Discusses the discrimination she encountered while growing up, including unequal education opportunity, rigged voting tests and harassment of blacks which ended in a Supreme Court decision banning banning discrimination on public transportation. Also describes the role of the NAACP and the activities of Martin Luther King, Jr. For the elementary school child.

7. O'Neil, Robert M. Discrimination against Discrimination: Preferential Admissions and the DeFunis Case. Bloomington, Indiana: Indiana University Press, 1975. 271 pp. $8.95.

The story of Marco DeFunis' lawsuit against the University of Washington, challenging the legality of preferential admissions (also called "reverse discrimination"). The author, himself a proponent of special admissions procedures for minority students, explores the issue in its ethical, social, and constitutional

---

7) Other books in the series are: Freedom of Speech, Rights of Privacy, Religious Freedom, Due Process of Law. Books can be ordered from the ACLU Literature Department and individual copies are available to affiliates and other groups at a discount of 20%, or $4.60 each. Quantities of 20 or more books are available to affiliates at a discount of 33%, or $3.80 each. With orders of 20 or more books, the titles can be mixed.

dimensions. For the educator and libertarian, [illegible]

8. Schwartz, Bernard, ed. Statutory History of the United States, Civil Rights. New York: Chelsea House, 1970. 3 vols. in 4. $129.00.

A three-volume work on important civil rights statutes with extracts from congressional debates, committee reports, Presidential messages, and Supreme Court decisions. For the lawyer.

9. Stiller, Richard. Broken Promises: The Strange History of the Fourteenth Amendment. New York: Random House, 1972. 128 pp. $5.69.

Traces the history of racial discrimination in the United States, the evolution of the Fourteenth Amendment, and attempts to assure due process of law. Includes reference to many court cases and discusses the work of the NAACP, the integration of Little Rock's schools and the Civil Rights Act of 1964. One chapter shows how the Fourteenth Amendment also affects the rights of women and the poor. For grades 5-9.

10. Weisbrod, Robert G. Genocide? Birth Control and the Black American. New York: Westport, Conn.: Greenwood Press, 1975. 219 pp. $7.95.

A study of the origins and rationale of Black Americans' fears towards compulsory birth control. Areas covered include: punitive sterilization by state officials, county sterilization demands on pregnant, low-income women, and the "Mississippi appendectomy."

11. Westin, Alan, ed. Freedom Now! The Civil Rights Struggle in America. New York: Basic Books, 1964. 346 pp.

The history of the civil rights struggle in America. Contributing authors include: James Baldwin, Charles Morgan, Malcom X, Daniel Bell, Martin Luther King, Jr., and others.

8. Sex Discrimination

1. Alexander, Shana. Shana Alexander's state-by-state guide to Women's Legal Rights. Los Angeles: Wollstonecraft, 1975. 224 pp. $12.95.

State-by-state survey of the legal rights of women in the following areas: marriage, divorce, children, employment, abortion, rape, death and taxes. Some of the state statutes should be supplemented with more recent laws.

2. Babcock, Barbara, and others. Sex Discrimination and the Law: Causes and Remedies. Boston: Little, Brown and Company, 1975. 1092 pp

Casebook presenting a feminist view of sex discrimination and the law. Contains cases, statutory materials, reprints of articles from popular magazines and law journals, books, and other documents. Material covers: constitutional law and feminist history, education and employment discrimination, sex role discrimination in the law of the family, women and the criminal law, reproductive freedom, and equal access to public accomodations. For the lawyer.

3. Bird, Caroline. Everything a Woman Needs to Know to Get Paid What She's Worth. New York: Bantam Books, 1973. 288 pp. $1.95.

Handbook full of practical advice for women about how to get better-paying jobs. Includes information on nonsexist career opportunities, tactics for job hunters, tactics for promotion, tactics for women at the top, how to rebut myths about working women, and blue-collar opportunities. Also includes a discussion of affirmative action programs and legal remedies for employment discrimination.

4. Campbell, Margaret A. "Why Would a Girl Go Into Medicine" Medical Education in the United States: A Guide for Women. Feminist Press Series on Women and Medicine. New York: Feminist Press, 1973. 126 pp. pap. $3.50.

Describes discriminatory practices against women in the field of medicine and suggests remedies culled from a survey of women students.

5. Cary, Eve and Kathleen Willert Peratis. Woman and the Law. (To Protect these Rights series). Skokie, Illinois: National Textbook Company, 1977. 202 pp. pap.

---

7 Other books in the series are: Freedom of Speech, Religious Freedom, Rights of Privacy, Due Process of Law, and Racial Equality. Books can be ordered from the ACLU Literature Department and individual copies are available to affiliates and other groups at a discount of 20% or $4.60 each. Quantities of 20 or more books are available to affiliates at a discount of 33% or $3.80 each, with orders of 20 or more books, the titles can be mixed.

One of a series of six books published in conjunction with the American Civil Liberties Union on women's rights. Traces the development of law concerning sex discrimination in such areas as: employment, education, marriage and divorce, reproductive freedom, criminal law (i.e. rape and prostitution) and the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. Provides excerpts from leading Supreme Court opinions and lower court opinions on women's rights issues. Includes a table of cases cited. Can be used in the high school and college classroom as well as a source book for the lawyer and civil libertarian.

6 Chapin, June R. and Margaret Stimman Branson. Women: The Majority -Minority. (The Analysis of Public Issues Program Problems Series). Boston: Houghton Mifflin Co., 1973. 122 pp. pap. $2.64.

Textbook covering issues of the women's rights movement, including women and work, child care, marriage, legal equality, women's rights as juveniles, the image of women in the mass media and sexism in education. Raises many provocative questions for discussion.

7. Davidson, Kenneth, and others. Text, Cases and Materials on Sex-Based Discrimination. St. Paul: MN; West Publishing Company, 1974. 1031 pp.

Casebook of court cases and statutory materials on sex-based discrimination. Provides information on: constitutional aspects, sexual interaction within the family, women and employment, educational opportunity, criminal law and sex roles, and comparative side-glances. Significant text for the lawyer and civil libertarian.

8. DeGrow, Karen. Sexist Justice. Westminister, MD: Vintage Books, 1974. 363 pp. pap. $2.95.

A feminist's analysis of the laws, legislators, judges, lawyers and law professors making up our legal system. Discusses the sexism of the federal government, unions, and employers, unequal treatment of women who apply for credit (now corrected under federal law), and discrimination against women after death, in the family, in the criminal courts, and in the schools.

9. Flexner, Eleanor. Century of Struggle: The Woman's Rights Movement in the United States. New York: Atheneum, 1970. 364 pp. pap. $3.45.

Story of the woman's rights movement in the United States, from colonial times up to the right to vote in 1920. Discusses the emergence of women in the labor movement and in industrial employment, higher education, professional fields, and their contribution to social reform. Also covers a comprehensive account of the suffrage movement.

*10. Hayden, Trudy. Punishing Pregnancy: Discrimination in Education, Employment, and Credit. New York: American Civil Liberties Union, 1973. 76 pp. $1.00. (Mimeographed).

An ACLU report based on interviews throughout the nation, shows how women are denied jobs, loans, credit, education, and other opportunities and benefits because they get pregnant or because they might get pregnant.

*11. Ross, Susan C. The Rights of Women: The Basic ACLU Guide to A Woman's Rights. (American Civil Liberties Union Handbook Series). New York: Avon Books, 1973. 384 pp. pap. $1.75.

Question and answer format presenting information on the legal rights of women. Material covers: constitutional rights, employment, education, mass media, crimes and juvenile delinquency, control over one's body, divorce, name change, and other sex discrimination problems. Appendices contain charts on state laws prohibiting discrimination, name change, and sources of legal assistance and women's organizations.

12. Stimpson, Caroline. Discrimination against Women: Congressional Hearings on Equal Rights in Employment and Education. New York: Bowkers, 1973. 558 pp. $13.50.

A condensed version of the original two volume Government Printing Office transcripts of hearings before the House Committee on Education and Labor on sex discrimination in employment and education. Includes testimony in favor of equal rights for women, as well as opposing viewpoints.

Rights of Native Americans

1. Cohen, Felix S. Handbook of Federal Indian Law. Albuquerque: University of New Mexico Press, 1971. 662 pp.

Classic work on Federal Indian Law and the legal history of the Indian-white relationship. This volume is based on the 1942 work published by the U.S. Government Printing office. Material is comprehensive and covers such topics as: tribal self-government, personal rights and liberties of Indians, individual rights in tribal and real property, the rights of Indians in his personality, the legal status of tribes, and criminal and civil jurisdiction, Discusses Indian treaties, federal Indian legislation from 1789-1939, the office of Indian Affairs and the legal status of the Pueblos of New Mexico, Alaskan Natives, New York Indians, and tribes in Oklahoma. Includes a tribal index of materials on Indian law, and an annotated table of statutes and treaties.

2. Kickingbird, Kirke and Karen Ducheneaux. One Hundred Million Acres. New York: Macmillan, 1973. 240 pp. $6.95.

Presents a "reasonable, documented and detailed argument for the recognition of land titles to Indians within the thought of western man." Describes various methods employed by departments of the federal government to confiscate Indian lands, and hunting and water rights. Suggests that the federal government create a new relationship with the American Indian by establishing a new doctrine of Indian legal rights with respect to land titles and ownership.

3. Washburn, Wilcomb E. Red Man's Land/White Man's Law: A Study of the Past and Present Status of the American Indian. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971. 280 pp. $7.95.

Traces the legal status of the American Indian from the period of discovery by the European to the present time. Material covers definition of an Indian, Indian courts, constitutional rights, hunting, fishing and water rights. Congress and the Indian, among others.

3. Franchise

*1. Neuborne, Burt, and Arthur Eisenberg. The Rights of Candidates and Voters: The Basic ACLU Guide to Candidates' and Voters' Rights. (American Civil Liberties Union Handbook series. New York: Avon Books, 1976. 158 pp. pap. $1.50.

Handbook in question and answer format on the legal rights of candidates and voters. This material covers the role of the courts and the Constitution in protecting voting rights, the right to vote and run for office, the ballot, the right to fair representation, congressional protection of the right to vote, campaign finance reform and political parties.

2. Reitman, Alan, and Robert B. Davidson. The Election Process: Voting Laws, and Procedures. (Legal Almanac Series). Dobbs Ferry, N. Y. Oceana, 1972. 154 pp. $4.95.

A lay person's guide to the rights of franchise and historical and technological trends that have affected the election process. Such aspects of the voting process as how registration is handled, how the voting system works, and absentee voting are included. Appendices contain state registration requirements, information for military personnel, state absentee voting requirements and a summary of leading Supreme Court decisions affecting voting.

4. Immigration and Naturalization

*1. Carliner, David. The Rights of Aliens: The Basic ACLU Guide to an Alien's Rights. (American Civil Liberties Union Handbook series.) New York: Avon Books, 1977. 255 pp. pap. $1.50.

A handbook, in question and answer format, defining the rights of aliens under the law. This material covers the rights of aliens to enter and remain in the United States, in deportation hearings, to work, to own property, to receive government benefits, and to become citizens. Also includes the right of asylum, registration, criminal laws, and extradition, the rights of alien students, aliens and taxes, and aliens and the military service. Appendices include a who's who for aliens, organizations providing assistance to aliens, a guide to reference works and laws affecting the alien, and a table of statutory restrictions on alien employment.

*2. Hayden, Trudy. The Immigration and Naturalization Service and Civil Liberties, A Report on the Abuse of Discretion. New York: American Civil Liberties Union, 1974. 66 pp. $2.00 (mimeographed).

An ACLU report denouncing dragnet arrests, police surveillance and the lack of adequate legal services for aliens. Shows how immigration laws are riddled with injustices and discrimination.

PART III. Constitutional Aspects of Civil Liberties

1. Barker, Lucius, and Twiley W. Barker, Jr. Civil Liberties and the Constitution: Cases and Commentaries. 2nd ed. Englewood Cliffs, N. J.: Prentice-Hall, 1975. 474 pp. $14.75. pap. $8.95.

An updated edition, examining changes qnd continuity in the United States Supreme Court's position, and focusing on decisions that relate to civil liberties and civil rights. Current civil liberties issues as women's rights, rights of minorities, and new attitudes towards security and freedom are included. For graduate and law students.

2. Cohen, William, and John Kaplan. Bill of Rights: Constitutional Law for Undergraduates. Mineola, N. Y.: The Foundation Press, 1976. 829 pp.

Study in constitutional law, focusing on legal doctrines and the inevitable balancing of governmental interests against individual rights in a free society. Major areas covered include: freedom of speech and press, religious freedom, privacy, discrimination, gun control, and a projection of the future of the Bill of Rights. For the lawyer and the advanced student.

3. Countryman, Vern. The Judicial Record of Justice William O. Douglas. Cambridge, Harvard University Press, 1974. 418 pp. $15.00.

A comprehensive review of former Justice Douglas' judicial career and his contributions to the protection of our political and civil rights.

4. Douglas, William O. The Bible and the Schools. Boston: Little Brown, 1966. 65 pp.

Former Supreme Court Justice Douglas discusses the reasoning behind the Supreme Court's decision on religion in the public schools. Justice Douglas explains the framers justification for religious tolerance, and their concern that the First Amendment should protect the citizen's right to reject or embrace any faith. It was this historic right, he states, that the Supreme Court upheld when it declared prescribed prayer and Bible reading in the public schools to be unconstitutional. Easy reading for the high school student.

5. Fellman, David, ed. The Supreme Court and Education. 3rd ed. New York: Teachers' College Press. 1976. 229 pp.

In the American federal system, education has always been a function of the States and local subdivisions. However, the U.S. Constitution is the supreme law of the land, and the Supreme Court, in interpreting it, has had a profound influence on how local jurisdictions provide education. The author divides this development into three parts: Education and Religion, Education and Racial Segregation, and Academic Freedom. In each case presented, majority and minority opinions are presented.

PART III

CONSTITUTIONAL ASPECTS OF CIVIL LIBERTIES

6. Fraenkel, Osmond. The Supreme Court and Civil Liberties. 2nd ed. New York: Oceana 1963. 189 pp.

Discusses the Supreme Court's treatment of such civil liberties issues as: freedom of expression, assembly and religion, education, voting, the right to travel, aliens, due process, cruel and unusual punishment, labor relations, and many others. Published in honor of the 40th anniversary of the ACLU, this work is based on a pamphlet published since 1937. Should be supplemented with more recent works on recent Supreme Court decisions.

7. Ginger, Ann Fagan. The Law, the Supreme Court, and the People's Rights. Woodbury, N. Y.: Barron's Educational Series, 1974. $10.95, pap. $3.95.

A study of how the Supreme Court's interpretation of law affects our rights to freedom, justice, and equality. Each chapter deals with a landmark human rights case. and includes excerpts of the justice's opinions. A useful classroom text for college courses in political science, American government, civics, and law.

8. Hughes, Graham. The Conscience of the Courts: Laws, and Morals in American Life. Garden City, N. Y.: Doubleday, 1975. 324 pp. $8.95.

A provocative study of crucial questions of law and morals in American society and recent decisions by both the lower courts and the Supreme Courts are analyzed. Solutions to such questions as: victimless crimes, drugs, pornography, and others, are given within the context of the Constitution. A view of the flexibility of laws and its interpretaion in contemporary America, aimed at the lawyer, philosopher, sociologist, and other groups interested in answers to America's moral problems.

9. Goodman, Elaine and Walter Goodman. The Rights of the People: The Major Decisions of the Warren Court. New York: Farrar, Strauss and Giroux, 1971. 192 pp. $4.95.

Discusses cases decided by the Supreme Court in the years when Earl Warren served as chief justice. Includes cases dealing with the rights of the accused (Miranda, Escobedo), the rights of juveniles, (Gault), obscenity (Roth), reapportionment (Reynolds), freedom of religion (Engel, Schempp), and school desegregation (Brown). Appendix contains biographical sketches of all the justices who served on the Warren Court.

10. Kauper, Paul G. Civil Liberties and the Constitution. Ann Arbor, MI.: University of Michigan Press, 1962. 237 pp. $6.00, pap. $1.95.

A study of major decisions of the Supreme Court in the areas of free speech, press, separation of church-state, and equal protection of the laws. Special attention is centered on the political role of the judiciary in the interpretation and enforcement of our constitutional guarantees.

11. Konvitz, Milton, ed. Bill of Rights Reader: Leading Constitutional cases. 5th Rev. ed. Ithaca, N. Y.: Cornell University Press, 1973. 747 pp. $19.50.

A collection of leading Supreme Court cases in the field of civil and political rights. Cases dealing with freedom of speech, press, religion, assembly and petition, and freedom from discrimination are covered.

12. Sweet, Esther C. Civil Liberties in America: A Casebook. New York: Van Nostrand, 1966. 352 pp. pap

Casebook of major Supreme Court decisions dealing with civil liberty issues. Contains majority and minority opinions of the justices of cases in the following areas: freedom of association, speech and assembly, church and state, loyalty and security, due process and fair procedures, search and seizure, self-incrimination, rights to counsel and confrontation, right to vote, desegregation, rights of aliens. Work should be supplemented with more recent court decisions.

13. Tresolini, Rocco J. These Liberties: Case Studies in Civil Rights. Philadelphia, Lippincott, 1968. 306 pp. pap.

Casebook of significant Supreme Court decisions affecting the civil liberties of Americans. Provides excerpts and a discussion of cases in these areas: individual rights in criminal cases (Gideon v. Wainwright, Escobedo v. Illinois) equal rights of blacks (Brown v. Board of Education), freedom of expression (Feiner v. New York), freedom of religion (Engel v. Vitale), the right to vote and political equality (Reynolds v. Sims), and the right to privacy (Olmstead v. United States). Can be used in the high school and college classroom as a resource for teaching constitutional liberties.

PART IV

GUIDE TO CIVIL LIBERTIES BIBLIOGRAPHIES

AND OTHER REFERENCE WORKS

PART IV. Guide to Civil Liberties Bibliographies and Other Reference Works

* 1. "A Bibliography on Privacy." The Privacy Report, 5 (September 1977), 1-15.

Annotated bibliography of books, law review and other articles, government documents, and publications by private organizations dealing with information privacy. The Privacy Report is published by the Project on Privacy and Data Collection of the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation.

2. Brooks, Alexander D. Civil Rights and Liberties in the United States: An Annotated Bibliography. New York: Civil Liberties Educational Foundation, Inc., 1962. 151 pp. pap. $1.95.[8]

Annotated bibliography of civil liberties and civil rights books published between 1940 and 1962. Includes a few books published prior to 1940. Books are primarily for the layperson, high school and college student. Although the bibliography is dated, it is useful because it contains many outstanding reference and classical works in the civil liberties field that were not covered in the ACLU bibliography. The bibliography also contains information on audio-visual materials. This section should be supplemented with the recent AV bibliography prepared by the national ACLU.

3. Davison, Susan E., ed. Bibliography of Law-Related Curriculum Materials: Annotated. 2nd ed. Chicago: American Bar Association, Special Committee on Youth Education for Citizenship, 1976. 116 pp. pap. $1.00.[9]

Bibliography of law-related books, textbooks, curriculum kits, journals, newsletters and pamphlets for individuals interested in law-related education. Provides a full bibliographic citation for each entry, indicating the grade level, type of material, and description of the book's content. Excerpts from relevant sections of the YEFC bibliography are included in the ACLU bibliography.

4. McCoy, Ralph. Freedom of the Press: An Annotated Bibliography. Carbondale and Edwardsville, IL.: Southern Illinois University Press, 1968. $25.00.

Comprehensive bibliography and addendum of books, pamphlets, articles, films and other materials relating to freedom of the press in English-speaking countries. Freedom of the press is used to include materials on censorship and freedom of expression in all media of mass communication. Covers material from the beginning of printing to 1966.

Please see next page for footnotes 8 and 9

5. Sherman, Morris, comp. Amnesty in America: An Annotated Bibliography. Passaic, N. J.: New Jersey Library Association, 1974. 45 pp.

A selective bibliography of materials dealing with the history of amnesty in America as it pertains to those regusing to serve in the military. This compilation includes a chronological list of citations of proclamations granting amnesty, Congressional debates and resolutions, judicial decisions, periodicals, books, dictionaries, encyclopaedias, and unpublished materials from colonial times to 1973 on amnesty. Some of the entries are annotated, and a full bibliographical citation for each reference is provided.

6. School Desegregation/Integration Notebook, Annotated Bibliography & Summaries of Reference Materials. New York: American Civil Liberties Union, 1977.

Annotated bibliography of materials dealing with the school desegregation issue. Material annotated includes books, reports, cases, statutory law, research projects, and community findings. Contains a glossary of terms. Supplements will be issued periodically.

7. Women's Rights Almanac. New York: Harper & Row, 1974. 620 pp. pap.

Comprehensive coverage, compiled by the Elizabeth Cady Stanton Publishing Company, providing social, political, and legal information on women. Material is divided into four sections. Part I is a state by state directory of basic statistical and other information about women. Part II provides national information on demography, women in government and politics, employment, education, birth and health care, consumer protection, among others. The third section presents brief essays on women's issues as: Equal Rights Amendment, abortion, child care, credit and banking, education, employment, and others. The final section contains a bibliography of women's periodicals, chronology of women in 1973, feminism in America, 1770-1974 and other materials. Also provides a list of organizations to contact for legal assistance.

---

8 The Brooks bibliography is no longer available from the publisher. Check your local public school, or college library. A limited supply of this bibliography is available from Barbara Eichman at the national ACLU office.

9 The ABA's Special Committee on Youth Education for Citizenship publishes other law-related educational bibliographies. These include: Gaming: An Annotated Catalogue of Law-Related Games and Simulations, Media: An Annotated Catalogue of Law-Related Audio-Visual (con't)

Materials, and Directory of Law-Related Educational Activities. For information on these and other catalogues, please write to the Special Committee on Youth Education for Citizenship, American Bar Association, 1155 East 60th Street, Chicago, Illinois 50637.

INDEX ACCORDING TO AUTHOR AND TITLE

A	Page No.
Aaronson, Lawrence	32, 41
The Abuses of the Intelligence Agencies	27
Alexander, Shana	52
American Freedom and the Bill of Rights	13
America's Reign of Terror: World War I, The Red Scares, and the Palmer Raids	6
Amnesty in America: An Annotated Bibliography	63
Amnesty? The Unsettled Question of Vietnam	30
An ACLU Guide to Cable Television	18
Anderson, James	20
Annas, George	40
Annual Report	5
Arrest, Search and Seizure	33
The Assault on Privacy; Computers, Data Banks and Dossiers	47

B
Babcock, Barbara	52
Bakal, Carl	19
Bamberger, Richard	35
Bannan, John	29
Bannan, Rosemary	29
Banned Books: Trends in Censorship from Homer to Hemingway	16
Barker, Lucius	58
Barker, Twiley	58
Barron, Jerome	13
Baum, Frederic	45
Bedau, Hugo	36, 37
Bell, David	26
Beringhause, David	14
Berman, Jerry	27
The Bible and the Schools	25, 58
Bibliography of Law-Related Curriculum Materials: Annotated	62
A Bibliograph on Privacy	62
The Bill of Rights - A Source Book	11
The Bill of Rights and the Police	33
Bill of Rights: Constitutional Law for Undergraduates	58
The Bill of Rights: Its Impact on the American People	12
The Bill of Rights - Its Origin and Meaning	11
Bill of Rights Reader: Leading Constitutional Cases	12, 60
Bird, Caroline	52
Black, Algernon	31
Black, Charles	37
Bogan, E. Carrington	46
Bolmeier, Edward	30

Bowers, William 37
Branson, Margaret 53
Brant, Irving 11
Breckenridge, Adam 46
Broken Promises: The Strange History of the 14th Amendment 51
Bronstein, Alvin 39
Brooks, Alexander 62
Burnstein, Abraham 24

C

Campbell, Margaret 52
Capital Punishment 37
Capital Punishment in the United States 37
Capital Punishment: The Inevitability of Caprice and Mistake 37
Captive Voices: The Report of the Commission of Inquiry into High School Journalism 23
Carey, Eve 22, 52
Carliner, David 56
Carter, Joseph 14
The Cat Ate my Gymsuit 19
Censorship: For and Against 17
Censorship in America 17
Censorship in the United States 17
Censorship Landmarks 15
Censorship of the Movies: The Social and Political Control of a Mass Medium 18
Century of Struggle: The Woman's Rights Movement in the United States 53
The Challenge to American Freedoms, World War I and the Rise of the American Civil Liberties Union 6
Chapin, Jane 53
Chevigny, Paul 31
The Child Savers: The Invention of Delinquency 43
The Children's Rights Movement: Overcoming the Oppression of Young People 42
The C.I.A. and the Cult of Intelligence 17, 28
A Citizen's Guide to his Legal Rights 31
Civil Liberties and the Constitution 60
Civil Liberties and the Constitution: Cases and Commentaries 58
Civil Liberties: Case Studies and the Law 13
Civil Liberties in America: A Casebook 60
Civil Liberty and Civil Rights 12
Civil Rights and Liberties in the United States: An Annotated Bibliography 62
The Civil Rights of Students 24
The Civil Rights of Teachers 21
Clarence Earl Gideon and the Supreme Court 36
Cline, Victor 14
Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities 22
Cogdell, Gaston 25
Cohen, Felix 55
Cohen, William 11, 58

Columbia Human Rights Law Review 48
Compulsory Education and the Amish 25
The Conscience of the Courts: Laws and Morals in American Life 59
Conscientious Objectors in the Civil War 8
The Constitutional Amendments 12
Constitutional Rights of College Students 23

Cops & Rebels: A Study of Provocation 31
Corporal Punishment in the Public Schools: The Use of Force in Controlling Student Behavior 23
Countryman, Vern 58
Creamer, J. Shane 31
Crime and Punishment: A Radical Solution 33
Criminal Sentences: Law Without Order 39
Cruel and Unusual Punishment: The Supreme Court and Capital Punishment 38
Cuban, Larry 32
Cutler, Charles 30, 41

D

Danziger, Paula 19
Davidson, Kenneth 53
Davidson, Robert 56
Davison, Susan 62
The Death of Privacy 47
The Death Penalty in America: An Anthology 36
DeCrow, Karen 53
The Defendant's Rights Today 34
DeGrazia, Edward 15
Discrimination Against Discrimination: Preferential Admissions and the DeFunis Case 50
Discrimination Against Women: Congressional Hearings on Equal Rights in Employment and Education 54
Divoky, Diane 44
Doing Justice: The Choice of Punishments 39
Don't Ride the Bus on Monday: The Rosa Parks Story 50
Dorman, Michael 21, 42
Dorsen, Norman 5, 27
Dossier: The Secret Files They Keep on You 47
Douglas, William 11, 25
Ducheneaux, Karen 55
Due Process of Law 35

E

Eaneman, Paulette 34, 42
Econopouly, Nicholas 13
The Election Process: Voting Laws and Procedures 56
Emerson, Thomas 15
Ennis, Bruce 40
Eternal Vigilance: The American Civil Liberties Union in Action 6
Everything a Woman Needs to Know to Get Paid What She's Worth 52

F

Fair Procedure 34
Farber, Stephen 15
Feder, Bernard 32, 34
Fellman, David 34, 58
Fettered Freedom: Civil Liberties and the Slave Controversy, 1830-1860 8
Feuerlicht, Roberta 6
Fischer, Louis 21, 24
Fixx, James 15
Flexner, Eleanor 53
The Flight From Reason: Essays on Intellectual Freedom in the Academy, the Press, and the Library 14
Follman, Judith 23
Fontana, J. 12
Fraenkel, Osmond 11, 59
Frankel, Marvin 39
Freedom Now! The Civil Rights Struggle in America 51
Freedom of Speech 16
Freedom of the Press: An Annotated Bibliography 62
Freedom of the Press for Whom? The Right of Access to Mass Media 13
Freedom Spent: Tales of Tyranny in America 6
Freedom to Know: A Background Book 14
Fribourg, Marjorie 12
Friedman, Paul 41
Frontiers of Civil Liberties 15

G

Galloway, John 34
Galt, Thomas 15
Ganghran, Bernard 12
Garrison, Omar 46
Geltner, Michael 20, 41
Genocide? Birth Control and the Black American 51
Gentry, Harold 22
Getting Justice: The Rights of People 32
GI Rights and Army Justice: The Draftee's Guide to Military Life and Law 30
Gillers, Stephen 27, 29, 32
Ginger, Ann Fagan 59
God, Caesar and the Constitution 26
God and Government: The Uneasy Separation of Church and State 25
Goodman, Elaine 59
Goodman, Walter 59
Gora, Joel 15, 35
Gross, Beatrice 42
Gross, Ronald 42
The Gun in America: The Origins of a National Dilemma 20
Guttman, Allen 25

H

Habenstreit, Barbara 6
Haber, David
Haft, Marilyn 39
Haight, Anne 16
Haiman, Franklyn 16
Halperin, Morton 27, 28
Hamling, William 16
Handbook of Federal Indian Law 55
Harris, Richard 6
Hart, Harold 17
Haskins, Jim 42
Hatfield, Mark 30
Hayden, Trudy 54, 56
Herman, Michele 38
Holden, Anne 49
Hoyt, Edwin 17
Hoyt, Olga 17
Hughes, Graham 59

I

Investigating the FBI 29

J

Johnson, Donald 6
Jonakait, Randolph 25
The Judicial Record of Justice William O. Douglas 58
Justice is the Crime: Pretrial Delay in Felony Case 35
Justice Under Law/Right to Counsel: The Gideon Case 36, 45
Juvenile Problems and the Law 43
Juveniles and the Law 20, 41
Juveniles Have Rights Too 44

K

Kaplan, John 58
Katz, Lewis 35
Katz, William 12
Kauper, Paul 60
Keim, Albert 25
Kennett, Lee 20
Kickingbird, Kirke 55
Kirkpatrick, Lyman 28
Kluger, Richard 49
Knight, Richard 21
Konvitz, Milton 12, 25, 60

L

Ladd, Edward 23
La Morte, Michael 22
Lamson, Peggy 7
Latham, Frank 49

Law, Sylvia 49
Law, Morality and Vietnam: The Peace Militants and the Courts 29
Law of Juvenile Delinquency 45
Law of Juvenile Justice 44
The Law, the Supreme Court and People's Rights 59
The Lawless State: The Crimes of the US Intelligence Agencies 28
Laws Concerning Religion in the United States 24
Lawton, M. 12
Levine, Alan 22
Lewis, Anthony 36
Liberty in the Balance: Current Issues in Civil Liberties 13
Liberty Under Law/Freedom of Expression - The Feiner Case 20 Lines, ...
Lipman, Michel 42
Litwin, Lawrence 35
A Living Bill of Rights 11
Lobbying for Freedom: A Citizen's Guide to Fighting Censorship at the State Level 18
Loeb, Robert 43

M

McCafferty, James 37
Mackey, Philip 38
McClellan, Grant 17
McCoy, Ralph 62
McDaniel, Henry 43
McDonald, Laughlin 50
Mahe, Sally 43
Maloney, John 43
Manoni, Mary 12
Marchetti, Victor 17, 28
Markmann, Charles 7
Marks, John 17, 28
The Mass Media and Politics 15
The Meaning of Freedom of Speech: First Amendment Freedoms from Wilson to FDR 7
Meltsner, Michael 38
Meltzer, Milton 32
The Mentally Retarded Citizen and the Law 41
Merriwether, Louis 50
The Military Chaplaincy System 25
Miller, Arthur 47
Morgan, Richard 26
The Movie Rating Game 15
Murphy, Paul 7
The Myth of the Hyperactive Child and other Means of Social Control 44

N

Nagal, Stuart 36
National Education Association 22
National Street Law Institute 43
Neier, Aryeh 33, 47
Nelson, Jack 23
Neuborne, Burt 5, 56
Newman, Edwin 12
Newmann, Fred 26, 47
The Noblest Cry: A History of the American Civil Liberties Union 7
None of Your Business: Government Secrecy in America 27
Nowrick, Kenneth 18
Nussbaum, Michael 23
Nye, Russell 18

O

Obscenity: Censorship of a Free Choice 16
Oliver, Donald 26, 47
On the Cable: The Television of Abundance 18
One Hundred Million Acres 55
Our Bill of Rights 12

P

Panoch, James 26
Parker, Donald 13
The People and the Police 31
Peratis, Kathleen 52
Peter Zenger: Fighter for Freedom 15
Pfeffer, Leo 26, 27
Pierce, Chester 37
Pileup on Death Row 38
Platt, Anthony 43
Police Power: Police Abuses in New York City 31
The Policeman and the Citizens: The Politics of Law and Order 32, 34
Political and Civil Rights in the United States 5
Potts, James 39
Powledge, Fred 18
The Price of Liberty: Perspectives on Civil Liberties by Members of the ACLU 8
Prisoners of Psychiatry: Mental Patients, Psychiatrists and the Law 40
Prisoners' Rights Sourcebook: Theory, Litigation, Practice 38
Prisoners' Self=Help Litigation Manual 31
Privacy 47
Privacy and Freedom 48
The Pulse of Freedom: American Freedoms: 1920-1970 8
Punishing Pregnancy: Discrimination in Education, Employment and Credit 54
Pursuing Justice for the Child 44

R

Racial Equality 50
Randall, Richard 18
Ratcliff, Richard 23
Red Man's Hand/White Man's Law: A Study of the Past and Present Status of the American Indian 55
Reitman, Alan 8, 23, 56
Religion Goes to School: A Practical Handbook for Teachers 26
Religious Freedom 26, 27
Religious Liberty and Conscience: A Constitutional Inquiry 25
The Report of the Commission on Obscenity and Pornography 19
Rickenbacker, William 24
Riekes, Linda 43
The Right of Access to Information from the Government 18
The Right to be Left Alone 48
The Right to Bear Arms 19
The Right to Privacy 46, 47
The Right to Remain Silent 32
The Rights of Aliens: The Basic ACLU Guide to an Alien's Rights 56
The Rights of Americans - What They are - What They Should Be 5
The Rights of Candidates and Voters: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Candidate's and voter's Rights 56
The Rights of Gay People: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Gay Person's Rights 46
The Rights of Hospital Patients: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Hospital Patient's Rights 40
The Rights of Mental Patients: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Mental Patient's Rights 40
The Rights of Prisoners: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Prisoner's Rights 39
The Rights of the Mentally Retarded: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Mentally Retarded Person's Rights 41
The Rights of Military Personnel 30
The Rights of Privacy 48
The Rights of Reporters: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Reporter's Rights 15
The Rights of Students: The Basic ACLU GUide to a Student's Rights 22
The Rights of Suspects: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Suspect's Rights 33
The Rights of Teachers: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Teacher's Rights 24
The Rights of the Accused in Law and Action 36
The Rights of the People: The Major Decisions of the Warren Court 59
The Rights of the Poor: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Poor Person's Rights 49
The Rights of Union Members and the Government 27
The Rights of Young People: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Young Person's Rights 45

The Rights of Women: The Basic ACLU Guide to a Woman's Rights 54
The Rights We Have: A Handbook of Civil Liberties 11
The Rise and Fall of "Jim Crow," 1865-1964 49
Rivkin, Robert 30
Roger Baldwin: Founder of the American Civil Liberties Union: A Portrait 7
Rosenberg, Jerry 47
Rosengart, Oliver 33
Rosenheim, Margaret 44
Ross, Susan 54
Rubin, David 24
Rubin, Sd 44
Rudovsky, David 39
Rusher, William 30

S

Scharat, Arlie 30
Scheiber, Harry 18
Schimmel, David 21, 24
The School Bus Stops Here: A Study of School Desegregation in Three Cities 49
School Desegregation/Integration Notebook 63
Schrag, Peter 44
Schwach, Howard 20
Schwartz, Bernard 51
Schwartz, Murray 11
Seagraves, Roy 44
Severn, Bill 47
Sex Discrimination and the Law: Causes and Remedies 52
Sexist Justice 53
Shana Alexander's State by State Guide to Women's Rights 52
Sherman, Morris 63
Siegel, Loren 40
Simple Justice: A History of Brown vs. Board of Education and Black America's Struggle for Equality 49
Sloan Commission on Cable Communications 18
Snyder, Gerald 48
Sobul, DeAnne 11
Spy Government: The Emerging Police State in America 46
Starr, Isidore 20, 36
Statutory History of the United States, Civil Rights 51

Stochman, Barton 30
Stiller, Richard 51
Stimpson, Caroline 54
Student Legal Rights: what They are and How to Protect Them 23
Students' Legal Rights and Responsibilities 22
Students' Rights: Issues in Constitutional Freedoms 21
The Supreme Court and Civil Liberties 59
The Supreme Court and Education 58

The Supreme Court and Religion 26
The Supreme Court and the Rights of the Accused 34
Surveillance, Dataveillance and Personal Freedoms: Use and Abuse of Information and Technology 48
Sussman, Alan 45
Sussman, Frederick 45
Sweet, Esther 60
The System of Freedom of Expression 15

T

Taft, Philip 27
Teachers' Legal Rights, Restraints and Liabilities 20
Text, Cases and Materials on Spy-Based Discrimination 53
These Liberties: Case Studies in Civil Rights 60
These Unalienable Rights: A Handbook of the Bill of Rights 12
Thurman, David 18
Tresolini, Rocco 60
Truce, Betty 44
The Twelve Year Sentence: Radical Views of Compulsory Schooling 24

U

Under 21: A Young People's Guide to Legal Rights 21, 42
United States Commission on Obscenity and Pornography 19
The U. S. Intelligence Community: Foreign Policy and Domestic Activities 28
Unquestioning Obedience to the President: The ACLU Case Against the Illegal War in Vietnam 29

V

Voices Against Death: American Opposition to Capital Punishment, 1787-1975 38
Von Hirsch, Andrew 39

W

Waddington, Lawrence 33
Washburn, Wilcomb 55
Watters, Pat 29
Way, H. Frank 13
Weinheimer, Gail 33
Weisbrod, Peter 51
Westin, Alan 48, 51
What Happens if You're Arrested 43
What Price Parochiaid? 25
Where do you Draw the Line? An Exploration into Media Violence, Pornography and Censorship 14
"Why Would a Girl go into Medicine" - Medical Education in the United States 52

The Wilson Administration and Civil Liberty 8
Wise, William 13
Wolfe, Burton 38
Woman & The Law 52
Women: The Majority-Minority 53
Women's Rights Almanac 63
Wright, Edward 8

Y

Young, D. Parker 22
Your Legal Rights as a Minor 43
Your Rights, Past and Present: A Guide for Young People 42
You've Been Arrested 32

Z

Zarr, Melvyn 33
Zupanec, Nancy 34, 42

INDEX TO PUBLISHERS AND DISTRIBUTORS

A

Addison-Wesley Publishing Company
2725 Sand Hill Road
Menlo Park, California 94025

Agathon Press, Inc.
150 Fifth Avenue
New York, New York 10011

Aldine-Atherton, Inc.
529 South Wabash Avenue
Chicago, Illinois 60605

American Bar Association
Special Committee on Youth
Education for Citizenship
1155 East 60th Street
Chicago, Illinois 60657

American Book Company
300 Pike Street
Cincinnati, Ohio 45202

American Civil Liberties Union
22 East 40th Street
New York, New York 10016

American Library Association
50 East Huron Street
Chicago, Illinois 60611

Americans United for Separation of Church & State
8120 Fenton Street
Silver Spring, Maryland 20910

AMS Press, Inc.
56 East 13th Street
New York, New York

Anchor Books
9349 Belvoir Avenue
La Crescenta, California 91214

Anchor Press
see Doubleday & Co.

W. H. Anderson Company
646 Main Street
Cincinnati, Ohio 45201

Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith
315 Lexington Avenue
New York, New York 10016

Arno Press, Inc.
New York Times Company
330 Madison Avenue
New York, New York 10017

Atheneum Publishers
122 East 42nd Street
New York, New York 10017

Avon Books
959 Eighth Avenue
New York, New York 10019

B

Bantam Books
666 Fifth Avenue
New York, New York 10019

A. S. Barnes & Company, Inc.
P. O. Box 421
Cranbury, New Jersey 08512

Barron's Educational Series, Inc.
113 Crossways Park Drive
Woodbury, New York 11797

Basic Books, Inc.
10 East 53rd Street
New York, New York 10022

Benziger, Inc.
Order Department
Front and Brown Streets
Riverside, New Jersey 08075

Clark Boardman Company, Ltd.
435 Hudson Street
New York, New York 10014

R. R. Bowker Company
A Xerox Education Company
1180 Avenue of the Americas
New York, New York 10036

Brigham Young University Press
205 University Press Bldg.
Provo, Utah 84601

C

Center for Law and Education
Harvard University
Larsen Hall, 14 Appian Way
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138

Center for National Security Studies
122 Maryland Avenue, N.E.
Washington, DC 20002

Chelsea House, Publishers
70 West 40th Street
New York, New York 10018

Columbia University Press
562 West 113th Street
New York, New York 10025

Cornell University Press
Sales Department
124 Roberts Place
Ithaca, New York 14850

Coward, McCann and Geoghegan, Inc.
200 Madison Avenue
New York, New York 10016

Thomas Y. Crowell Company, Inc.
666 Fifth Avenue
New York, New York 10019

D

D.C. Project: Street Law
412 Fifth Street, N.W.
Washignton, DC 20001

Dell Publishing Company, Inc.
Educational Sales Department
750 Third Avenue
New York, New York 10017

Doubleday and Company, Inc.
School and Library Division
501 Franklin Avenue
Garden City, New York 11530

E

Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corporation
425 North Michigan Avenue
Chicago, Illinois 60611

F

Facts on File, Inc.
119 West 57th Street
New York, New York 10019

Farrar, Straus and Giroux
Attention: Book Order
19 Union Square West
New York, New York 10003

Fearon Publishers, Inc.
6 Davis Drive
Belmont, California 94002

Federal Bar Association
1815 H Street, N.W.
Suite 420
Washington, DC 20006

Feminist Press
Box 334
Old Westbury, New York 11568

Foundation Press, Inc.
170 Old Country Road
Mineola, New York 11501

Burt Franklin & Company
235 East 44th Street
New York, New York 10017

Free Press
A Division of Macmillan Publishing Company, Inc.
866 Third Avenue
New York, New York 10022

G

Glencoe Press
Order Department
Front and Brown Streets
Riverside, New Jersey 08075

Greenleaf Classics, Inc.
3511 Camino del Rio, S.
San Diego, California 92120

Greenwood Press, Inc.
51 Riverside Avenue
Westport, Connecticut 06880

Grove Press, Inc.
53 East 11th Street
New York, New York 10003

H

Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Inc.
757 Third Avenue
New York, New York 10022

Hart Publishing Company
15 West 4th Street
New York, New York 10012

Harvard University Press
79 Garden Street
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138

Hawthorn Books, Inc.
260 Madison Avenue
New York, New York 10016

Hill & Wang, Inc.
Division of Farrar, Strauss & Giroux, Inc.
19 Union Square
New York, New York 10003

Holt, Rinehart and Winston
383 Madison Avenue
New York, New York 10017

Houghton Mifflin Company
Department M
One Beacon Street
Boston, Massachusetts 02107

I

Indiana University Press
Tenth and Morton Streets
Bloomington, Indiana 47401

K

Alfred A. Knopf
c/o Random House, Inc.
Order Department
Westminister, Maryland 21157

L

Lexington Books
Division of D. C. Heath & Company
125 Spring Street
Lexington, Massachusetts 02173

J. B. Lippincott Company
East Washington Square
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19105

Little, Brown and Company
34 Beacon Street
Boston, Massachusetts 02106

M

McGraw-Hill Book Company
1221 Avenue of the Americas
New York, New York 10020

Macmillan Publishing Company, Inc.
866 Third Avenue
New York, New York 10022

Mento Books
Order Department
120 Woodbine Street
Bergenfield, New Jersey 07621

Julian Messner
Division of Simon and Schuster, Inc.
1 West 39th Street
New York, New York 10018

N

National Education Association
NEA Order Department
The Academic Building
Saw Mill Road
West Haven, Connecticut 06516

The National Prison Project
American Civil Liberties Union Foundation
Suite 1031
1346 Connecticut Avenue, N.W.
Washington, DC 20036

National Textbook Company
8259 Niles Center Road
Skokie, Illinois 60076

New American Library
120 Woodbine Street
Bergenfield, New Jersey 07621

W. W. Norton & Company, Inc.
500 Fifth Avenue
New York, New York 10036

O

Oceana Publications, Inc.
75 Main Street
Dobbs Ferry, New York 10522

Open Court Publishing Company
P. O. Box 599
LaSalle, Illinois 61301

P.

Pantheon Books
Division of Random House, Inc.
201 East 50th Street
New York, New York 10022

Parents' Magazine Press
52 Vanderbilt Avenue
New York, New York 10017

Penguin Books
7110 Ambassador Road
Baltimore, Maryland 21207

Prentice-Hall, Inc.
Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey 07632

Press of Case Western Reserve University
Frand Adgate Quail Building
Cleveland, Ohio 44106

Project Benchmark
2150 Shattuck Avenue, Suite 817
Berkeley, California 94704

R.

Random House, Inc.
Order Department
Westminister, Maryland 21157

S

Sage Publications, Inc.
275 S. Beverly Drive
Beverly Hills, California 90212

St. Martin's Press, Inc.
175 Fifth Avenue
New York, New York 10010

Scarecrow Press
Subsidiary of Grolier Educational Corp.
52 Liberty Street, Box 656
Metuchen, New Jersey 08840

Schocken Books
200 Madison Avenue
New York, New York 10016

Scott, Foresman and Company
1900 East Lake Avenue
Glenview, Illinois 60025

Charles Scribner's Sons
597 Fifth Avenue
New York, New York 10017

Seabury Press
815 Second Avenue
New York, New York 10017

Southern Illinois University Press
Carbondale, Illinois 62901

Stein & Day Publishers
Scarborough House
Briarcliff Manor, New York 10510

Lyle Stuart, Inc.
120 Enterprise Avenue
Secaucus, New Jersey 07094

T

Teacher's College Press
Columbia University
1234 Amsterdam Avenue
New York, New York 10027

Two Continents Publishing Group, Inc.
30 East 42nd Street
New York, New York 10017

U

University of Chicago Press
5801 Ellis Avenue
Chicago, Illinois 60637

University of Illinois Press
Urbana, Illinois 61801

University of Kentucky Press
Lexington, Kentucky 40506

University of Michigan Press
615 E. University
Ann Arbor, Michigan 48106

University of Nebraska Press
901 N. 17th Street
L9ncoln, Nebraska 68508

University of New Mexico Press
Journalism 220
Albuquerque, NM 87131

University of Wisconsin Press
P. O. Box 1379
Madison, Wisconsin 53701

V

Van Nostrand Company
450 West 33rd Street
New York, New York 10001

Viking Press, Inc.
625 Madison Avenue
New York, New York 10022

Vintage Books
c/o Random House
Order Department
Westminister, Maryland 21157

W

Ives Washburn, Inc.
Subsidiary of David McKay Co., Inc.
750 Third Avenue
New York, New York 10017

Franklin Watts, Inc.
730 Third Avenue
New York, New York 10019

West Publishing Company
50 Kellog Building
St. Paul, Minnesota 55102

West Publishing Company
170 Old Country Road
Mineola, New York 11501

H. W. Wilson
950 University Avenue
Bronx, New YOrk 10452

World Publishing Company
P. O. Box 366
Mountain View, California 94040

X

Xerox Education Publications
Education Center
Columbus, Ohio 43216